BRITAIN TO EXTEND DRAFT

Ministry Plans to Enforce Conscription All Over United Kingdom; Need of More Men Urgent

London, Oct. 19.—England's need of more men for her armies came up for discussion in the House of Commons today.

This is the real vital question confronting Parliament, for it include the possibility of extending conscription to Ireland.

The discussion will not be limited to cover the British Isles, but will include the whole British Empire.

It is declared that England needs at least 1,000,000 more men for the successful prosecution of the war.

Lloyd-George contends that the old conscription law is too loose and that it should be made more drastic to bring out those who are now "slacking."

The Irish problem was pushed to the front again following the defeat of a motion, by a vote of 202 to 106, of a motion criticising the present government of Ireland. The majority's attitude is generally believed to forecast the ultimate extension of compulsion to the Irish.

John Redmond, who introduced the motion, declared that under the present government of Ireland, it would be almost impossible to bring the Irish voluntarily into the army and declared the situation was "filled with menace" in regard to compulsion.

The debate developed several stormy scenes. A striking incident was Premier Asquith's acceptance of Timothy Healy's challenge to send the American Ambassador to investigate the treatment of the Irish revolutionary prisoners in British jails.

Another interesting contrast was furnished by statements of Redmond and David Lloyd George on Irish recruiting totals.

Redmond quoted figures to show that at the beginning of the war the Irish eagerly offered their aid to the cause of the United Kingdom.

"There were 157,000 Irishmen in

Says Motor Tanks Are British Built

New York, Oct. 19.—President Gaston, of Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, who has returned from abroad, said: "The much-talked of motor tanks, which have been doing so much work for the allies in trench warfare, are not American-made, as has been generally supposed. These machines are sole product of English invention and English manufacture, and no part of them is made in this country. They have not been constructed on any American tractor chassis."

Mr. Gaston, while abroad, was the guest of the British general army headquarters in an inspection trip which took him along the entire British front in France and Belgium.

AUTO USED TO LURE PASTOR, SAYS WIFE

By International News Service.

Freehold, N. J., Oct. 19.—First an automobile, and then a bungalow were used as lures in the alleged alienation of the affection of the Rev. J. Milo Robinson by Mrs. Iona I. Patterson, a wealthy widow, according to the clergyman's wife, Mrs. Leota A. Robinson, who today resumed her testimony in her $50,000 suit against her rival.

Mrs. Robinson swore the widow began by offering her machine to the clergyman and later, when she went South, turned over her bungalow to the Robinsons. She testified she repeatedly found her husband and Mrs. Patterson in compromising situations.

The Rev. Mr. Robinson, who was formerly pastor of the Asbury Park Congregational Church, has not been seen since August of last year.

COLEMAN ALL NIGHT IN CELL

Sleeps Behind Bars, Eats Deer Island Food and Reports Conditions Are Satisfactory at Prison

George W. Coleman, president of the Boston City Council, after spending the night in a cell at Deer Island to get first hand knowledge of conditions at that institution, declared today on his return to Boston that he was satisfied with the manner in which the prison is conducted.

"No one knew I was going to visit the island. I went alone and my call was a complete surprise. I had no pass. The only thing I found which seemed to me to need correction was that the blankets and sheets were so small that one could not keep himself covered," said Mr. Coleman, prefacing a story of his experiences.

Unknown to anyone, the City Council president, who is also chairman of the prison committee, decided to investigate the complaints which have come to the committee from prisoners confined at Deer Island.

ONLY HIS WIFE KNEW.

That is why, after supper last evening he took the train to Winthrop without letting anyone, except his wife, know where he was going. At Winthrop he took a taxi cab to Shirley Point, where he told an officer on guard he wanted to visit Master Burke at the island.

The officer informed him that the telephone was not connected and he did not know as he could make his passage until this morning. But after consideration a moment, the officer pushed a bell summoning the boat from the island. Chairman Coleman was rowed across the gut which swirls between the big city prison and the mainland, and an officer on the other side notified Master Burke that Mr. Coleman had arrived.

He was requested to escort the City Council president to the administration building.

"Master Burke, while surprised to see me, did not hesitate a moment to show me about the buildings," said Mr. Coleman today. "I talked with several of the men, but heard no complaints except from one prisoner. He wanted to be transferred from work in the stockyard. I did not say I wanted to stay all night. I wanted to investigate the complaint that the salt mackerel served for breakfast at the island was bad and that the attendants in the old prison was not good.

SURPRISE TO BURKE.

"After we had gone all over the buildings I said to Master Burke:

"'I want to stay here tonight.' He said: 'All right, I will have a place fixed for you.'

"I then told him that I wanted to be locked up in the old prison just as will my guests.

FORBID "CHILDREN" FILM AT MILFORD

Allied Troops Insult Stars and Stripes, Greeks Claim

Rome, Oct. 19.—Events in Greece are absorbing the whole attention of the public here. The fact that Greek demonstrators carried about an American flag is regarded as most significant, and as proving that everywhere the idea is rooted that the United States must be the mediator in the present European difficulties.

It is asserted that in the struggle in the streets the American flag was perforated several times and that the Greeks are trying to bring this forward as an insult to the American colors, thus causing an incident which will give the United States a chance to intervene.

NATIONAL LEAGUE WEAK, SAYS TENER

New York, Oct. 19.—President John K. Tener of the National League today issued a statement in which he declared that the recent age-limit ruling has injured his organization. He asserted that the National League had made a very good showing in the last two World's Series and added that the league would have to take immediate action if it wished to retain its prestige.

In his statement today, Tener said: "There is no use in the National League making any excuse or giving any alibi. We have played poor ball, very poor ball, in the last few series. Our pitchers held up but that was all.

"In my annual message to the club presidents I have called attention to the fact that the National League does not get its prestige in the executive office but on the ball field. That is where the public judges us.

"Every effort must be made at once to strengthen the league. There never defeats have stung, and with each defeat we are all the closer to turn the tide. I want every one in the league presidents, managers and players, to aim for a National League victory next Fall.

"No one can actually tell whether the 21-player limit has injured us in competition with the American League. The limit is a matter which the men with the money invested must settle for themselves.

"Personally I believe it has worked against the National League, and I think by next season the player limit in our league will be increased."

RELATIVES DISPUTE SUICIDE

Family of Rose D. Willets, Found Dying of Bullet Wound, Believe She Was Murdered

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 19.—Relatives of Rose Delima Willets, former student at the New England Conservatory of Music, who died of a bullet wound early in September, today prepared to press their demand that an inquest be held on the death of the girl.

They declared she did not commit suicide as had been supposed. They believe she was slain.

She was found, mortally wounded, in the coal yard of her brother-in-law, John E. Doyette, on South Champlain street, on the morning of September 12, and her relatives charge she was murdered.

The charges were made public at the conclusion of a three-day court battle waged by Mrs. Eugenie W. Doyette, sister of the dead girl and wife of the coal dealer, to obtain the custody of her three-year-old daughter, Eugenie, pending the outcome of a divorce libel filed by John E. Doyette and a cross-libel entered by his wife, which are to be heard in January.

PRONOUNCED CASE A SUICIDE.

Miss Willets was reported to have shot and killed herself after shooting and slightly wounding her brother-in-law as he sat in the office of the coal yard in South Champlain street. Health officer F. J. Ennis pronounced the case a suicide, but no autopsy was held.

The charges made by the family have created a sensation in this city and the new turn in the mystery has created tremendous interest in the coming divorce proceedings between Doyette and his wife.

The request for an inquest was contained in a letter sent to State's Attorney Theodore Hopkins by George A. Willets, a brother of the alleged victim, in Gloversville, N. Y. In the letter Willets is said to have brought forward evidence that is alleged to have escaped the attention of the county authorities at the time the girl was found dying. It is known that sweeping charges were made against another person, who, members of the family claim, was responsible for the girl's death.

State's Attorney Hopkins has admitted that no autopsy was held on the body of Rose Willets. He said he was satisfied with the report of the

'GUILTY' VERDICT IN ARSON CASE

Israel Grossman, one of the 10 defendants indicted in the so-called "arson trust" cases was found guilty in a sealed verdict opened before Judge Sisk in the Suffolk Superior Criminal Court today.

As soon as the verdict was announced Assistant District Attorney McIsaac asked for heavier bail, pending sentence. The bail was raised from $5,000 to $7,000.

Grossman was put on trial last Monday on charges of arson in setting fire to a stable he used on Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, on April 26, last, and of burning a building with intent to defraud an insurance company. He had seven horses and some harness in the stable and carried $2,000 insurance on the harness.

On April 28 a man who had a $200 mortgage on the stable put two keepers in the premises to protect his interests. The next morning, according to evidence of the state witnesses, went down into the stable basement, started a fire in the hay and, leaving, then ran out, but was caught by one of the keepers and turned over to the police. The case was given to the jury yesterday afternoon.

The three next cases in order which were called on were also Grossman's and went to the jury, were defended.

ROW ON OVER NUDE MODELS IN SCHOOL

By International News Service.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—Shall models pose in the "Altogether" irrespective of the presence of male and female students in the school?

This question is causing a quarrel in the Pennsylvania School of Industrial Art. It cropped up when a male model, posing in the nude, was forced to drape because two feminine students were ushered into the class. The men set up a wail. They declared it wasn't art. But the conventions had to be observed.

ALAUNIA STRIKES MINE; SINKS

All of 200 Passengers from New York Reported Saved; Several of Crew Not Yet Accounted For

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 19.— The Cunard liner Alaunia, which left New York for Falmouth and London with 200 passengers, struck a mine in the English Channel early today and sank before noon, according to a cablegram received by the Cunard line this afternoon. The cablegram added that the captain and part of the crew were saved.

All of the passengers are reported safe.

Officials of the Cunard line said they believed all of the passengers had been landed at Falmouth and that the vessel struck the mine while on her way from that port to London.

It was possible, the officials pointed out, that the passengers had been sent from Falmouth to London to save time. When the Alaunia left this port she carried 18,000 tons of cargo, a large part of which consisted of war supplies.

The Alaunia was a vessel of 4,241 tons. She was commanded by Captain H. M. Denison.

The text of the cablegram received at the Cunard offices follows:

"Alaunia struck a mine in English Channel this morning. Sank during forenoon. Captain H. M. Denison and majority of crew saved. Some missing."

There were 216 men in the Alaunia's crew. The liner carried only first class passengers.

GIRL 'SUICIDE' BELIEVED VICTIM OF MURDER BY MAN WHO HOUNDED HER

RELATIVES DEMAND RIGID INVESTIGATION

health officer and that in his opinion an autopsy was not necessary. Under the laws of Vermont it is claimed that in cases of sudden or violent death from other than natural causes the question of whether an autopsy shall be held is left to the discretion of the State's attorney in the county in which the death occurs.

State's Attorney Hopkins declared today that an autopsy would not be held under this order unless somebody "higher up" took the responsibility for saddling the expense upon Chittenden county.

"I see no good reason why an inquest should be held in this case," declared the State's attorney. "The physicians who were at the coal yard and attended both the girl and Deyette after the shooting were of the opinion that the girl committed suicide. All the circumstances pointed to suicide. The health officer's report said suicide and I was on the scene shortly after the shooting took place and it looked like a decided suicide to me. I did not think then, and I do not think now, that an autopsy should be held.

"The affair happened on September 15 and it was three weeks afterward before the family asked for an inquest. Why didn't they ask for an inquest then? The body was taken to Gloversville, N. Y., by the undertaker. It is buried in Gloversville now and if an inquest is to be held somebody will have to pay the expense of having it exhumed from the family lot and brought back here and examined. I do not feel as though I should assume this responsibility."

George A. Willets came to Burlington and was present during the closing session of the court battle over the custody of the Deyette child. During the intermission in the hearing he presented the claims of the family in a conference with State's Attorney Hopkins. The State's attorney declared he had no objection to having the body exhumed and an inquest held provided the members of the family or somebody else paid the expenses. Willets and other relatives of the dead girl believe that the State or county should assume the expenses and maintain that in justice to all concerned an inquest should be held.

THREATENED TO KILL.

Mrs. Rose Willets, mother, and Mrs. Eugenie W. Deyette of this city, Mrs. Rose S. Perry of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. John S. Grant of Johnston, N. Y., sisters of the dead girl, are supporting the brother in his fight for what they claim only to be justice.

"My sister never killed herself," declared Mrs. Perry today. "She was killed by a man who had threatened several times in the presence of witnesses that he would kill her. This man had hounded her for a long time. He hated her because she was a good girl just as he hates every other good girl.

"The authorities have overlooked many things in this case. The request for an inquest was prepared the day after the shooting but was not filed because there were several things we wanted to look into. We have been doing some sleuthing ourselves and what we have discovered has gone to bear out our contention that Rose was murdered and I believe that an inquest would show this. There are a great many facts in this case that have not come to light and there are numerous conflicting stories told by the authorities.

"They said four shots were fired and only three have been accounted for. They said she was shot in the temple but I did not hear anything said about another bullet wound over the temple that was discovered by the undertaker over in Gloversville. What has become of her side combs that she always wore? They were not found with her body. How do they explain the fact that she was found lying on her right side and the revolver was found some distance away on her left side? Rose was not left handed, as it has been claimed. She was right-handed.

"My sister's body showed signs of a struggle. Her neck was badly swollen as though she had been choked. She could not have choked herself. There were bruises on her hands and one bruise on the side of her face. To have done the shooting as some people have said she did, she would have had to reach her hand inside the window of the office and fired. Yet the window was not broken except for two bullet holes that it would have been impossible for her to put her hand through.

HOUNDED AND SLANDERED.

"The man who is responsible for my sister's death is the same man who has hounded and slandered her beyond belief. The things that he has said and done would stagger any normal person and I am convinced that when the truth is known it will be shown that he committed the murder."

Rose D. Willets, the dead girl, was twenty-three years old. She was born in Denver, Colo., but most of her life had been spent in the East. Her father, George W. Willets, who died recently, was a wealthy mine owner and at one time possessed property in the Cripple Creek region. She was graduated from the Gloversville, N. Y., High School and in 1912-1913 was a student at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

During the past year Miss Willets had taught Sunday School in a Congregational church in Lynn, where she lived at No. 72 Nahant street.

Miss Willets was a beautiful girl and possessed in addition to an unusual voice much artistic ability. She was recently employed painting miniatures for Harold Cox, a Boston artist.

While in Burlington she made her home with her mother at No. 734 Main street. On the morning of September 15 she arose very early and left the house, telling her mother she was going over to see her sister, Mrs. Deyette, who lives at No. 8 Monroe street. She spent a short time with her sister and then started for the coal yard.

STORY OF SHOOTING.

The rest of the story as given out by the police at the time and much of which is disputed by the girl's family is substantially as follows:

She reached the yard. Deyette was in the office. He was tilted back in a chair with his feet on a table. He was reading a newspaper. The back of his head was about three feet from the window. The girl stole up to the window and fired two shots at him. One bullet grazed his cheek and flying pieces of glass chipped his face and neck in several places. The other bullet ploughed along his right ankle and dropped into his shoe.

Miss Willet then placed the gun against her temple and fired. She fell to the ground and died a few minutes later. It was believed the girl had become mentally unbalanced. Deyette's wounds were dressed by a physician. His statement of the facts in the case was accepted by the police. The statement of his father, Alexander Deyette, who claimed to have witnessed the shooting from the yard, was also taken and the case pronounced a suicide. The death certificate returned by Health Officer Ennis and which is on file at City Hall read, "suicide by revolver shot."

Chief of Police P. J. Russell, declared today that he had no power to order an inquest and that it was not up to him to do anything further in the matter unless he received word from the State's attorney or the health officials that the case was not what it had been accepted to be.

"We investigated the case at the time of the shooting," declared Chief Russell. "The health officer reported the case a suicide and there was nothing for us to do but to accept his version. We have nothing more to do with it. Any action now must come from the State's attorney or somebody higher up and if I am instructed to act I shall do so. I cannot see my way clear to take the initiative."

MRS. DEYETTE TALKS.

Mrs. Deyette, who shares the opinion of the rest of the family that her sister did not take her own life, today said:

"I cannot understand why I was not questioned about my sister. Nobody came near me yet. I was the last person with whom she spoke before she went to the coal yard. Why didn't they ask my mother or myself something about Rose? We could have told them lots of things that never came out.

"They do not know why she went to the yard. I do, and she did not expect to find my husband there. She had no idea of shooting him when she left my house and she had no idea of shooting herself either. My sister was not insane, as some people said. She was a good, kind, honorable, upright girl, whose character had never been questioned, and who had no reason for wishing to end her life.

"A man once made an attempt to drown her but he did not succeed and she had been warned to look out for a bullet."

Mrs. Deyette's fight for the custody of her child has revived interest in the alleged suicide of her younger sister. The hearing was the outcome of the divorce papers filed by herself and her husband. The child is now in the custody of the father who has placed it in the care of his mother.

Several witnesses testified during the three days of the hearing for both sides and there were numerous allegations and denials entered by both Mr. and Mrs. Deyette. During the first day of the hearing when Mrs. Perry and Mrs. Grant, sisters of Mrs. Deyette, were testifying to Mr. Deyette's alleged actions toward his three-year-old daughter, Judge Waterman, who sat on the case, called the witnesses to the bench and the testimony was of such a nature that it was suppressed. Ginger ale highballs, beer and other drinks also figured prominently in the testimony during the hearing.

Under the decision expected today, Mrs. Deyette seeks to dissolve an injunction granted September 25, enjoining her from interfering with her husband's care and custody of their daughter, Eugenie, and to obtain temporary alimony pending the trial of the divorce suit which was filed on Monday.

SLAIN BY SLANDERER, SAYS SISTER

My sister never killed herself. She was killed by a man who had threatened several times in the presence of witnesses that he would kill her. This man had hounded her for a long time. He hated her because she was a good girl just as he hates every other good girl.

The things that he has said and done would stagger any normal person and I am convinced that when the truth is known it will be shown that he committed the murder.—*Statement by Mrs. Rose S. Los Angeles Man Gives Out a Simple Home Recipe That Banished His Desire for Liquor.

Mr. Carl Smith, living at 615½ S. Grand Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif., cured himself of the liquor habit with a simple home recipe. In a recent statement Mr. Smith said: "I took two high priced treatments for the liquor habit, both of which failed. Then I heard of the following simple recipe which I tried. It quickly banished my desire for liquor and greatly benefited my health. To 3 oz. of water add 20 grains of muriate of ammonia, a small box of Varlex Compound and 10 grains of pepsin. Take a teaspoonful three times a day. It is perfectly harmless and as it has no taste, color or smell it can be given secretly in coffee, tea, milk or in food. Any druggist can put up this recipe at very little cost, and it is a wonderful remedy."

WIVES BLAMED FOR SCANDAL IN EIGHTH

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 19.—The wives of certain officers of the Eighth Massachusetts Infantry are blamed for developments that hastened the forced resignation of Colonel Frank Graves and charges against Captain James F. Coupal of the Eighth's medical corps.

Gossip in the so-called "wives' colony" from Boston is said to have further involved a situation tangled enough without interference by women, according to the opinions expressed by superior officers in the brigade.

Husbands confided secrets to their wives and the women spread them in whispers and rumors crystalized into action. The wives' talk increased complications. Officers of rank in the Massachusetts brigade today declared that the border tour proved conclusively that a military camp is no place for woman.

Men of the Ninth remarked today that not an officer or private in Colonel Edward L. Logan's command permitted his wife to come to El Paso and that greater regimental serenity has been the result.

INQUIRY REPORT IS MADE.

Some of the wives of the Eighth are not involved. They kept aloof from the ramifications and if some of the others had done likewise there would be stronger fellowship among certain officers today.

Lieutenant-Colonel William H. Perry, acting commander of the Eighth, today read the evidence submitted in typewritten form by Major William J. Keville, who heard the witnesses against Captain Coupal. Lieutenant-Colonel Perry and Major Keville merely reported what had been offered in the two-day inquiry without recommendation and that he, Lieutenant-Colonel Perry, will submit the report to General E. Leroy Sweetser for final disposition.

Captain Coupal is accused of mistreating recruits and failing to treat sick soldiers. He was the closest man in the regiment to Colonel Graves and declares the investigation is part of a political plot to rid the regiment of himself as Graves was ousted.

The charges against Colonel Graves were of an entirely different character. Much curiosity has been expressed as to their exact nature. They are reported to have been sufficiently serious to cause Colonel Graves to surrender without a fight when asked to tender his resignation.

MAY LIVE IN EL PASO.

Colonel Graves' fifteen-day furlough began yesterday. He abandoned his uniform for a dark business suit. He is still wearing large blue glasses owing to his eye affection. He visited friends in El Paso yesterday and plans to go to California to look up his grandfather's estate. He has frequently expressed a desire to settle in El Paso and to bring his wife and daughter here from Marblehead.

The verdict in the Coupal case is anxiously awaited. Captain Coupal is a Boston physician. His bride left here for Boston a day before General Sweetser ordered the charges investigated. The wives of the Fifth Regiment officers and all but a few of the Eighth's officers' wives have started home over the various routes. Captain Coupal was married a day or two before the troops left Framingham.

K Company of the Eighth held an election yesterday for first lieutenant. Top Sergeant C. H. Thompson of Somerville won with sixty-eight votes; R. C. Smith had thirteen and Second Lieutenant T. J. Hartshorn received four.

Major Harry G. Chase's signal corps left Camp Wetherill for Boston last evening. The men had furled canvas at daybreak, but the day slipped by before the train was ready. They were glad when the wheels began to turn toward the East.

Chaplain M. J. O'Connor of the Ninth is communicating with Archbishop Prendergast of Philadelphia for the appointment of a Catholic chaplain for the Pennsylvania troops which have a division of 16,000 men on the border.

THE PULLMAN COMPANY

Convenience. Through the service of the Pullman Company it is not only possible to secure in advance accommodations in a car never crowded beyond its normal capacity, but it is possible to enjoy, while traveling, comforts and conveniences usually associated only with the most modern hotels in larger cities.

By building its own cars the Pullman Company has been able to test every innovation which might add to the convenience of its passengers. Constant ventilation, comfortable temperature, electric lights, electric fans, modern plumbing and other distinctive features of the Pullman car have been provided in spite of the difficulties arising from the natural limitations of car construction, and the fact that these conveniences must at all times be available while the car is moving from place to place.

A brief comparison of the early Pullman car, with its oil lamps, coal stove and almost entire lack of conveniences, with the modern steel-armored sleeping or parlor car, sanitary, electrically lighted, automatically ventilated, steam-heated and supplied with every comfort and convenience that ingenuity can devise, testifies to the progress which has been made by the Pullman Company in fifty years of continuous service to the traveling public.

SUNDAY TOILERS CHOKE ON ALL SUBSTITUTES FOR PROFANITY

Natt Bartlett, of Billy Sunday's tabernacle building staff, nailing up "No Profanity" notice, which he says is a mere matter of rm, because carpenters working on tabernacle have already abolished swearing. They now use only variety one cannot hear.

When a workman on the Billy Sunday Tabernacle pounds his finger now he opens his mouth—then shuts it again.

He won't swear on Joe Spiece's account.

But he refuses, on his own account, to use the substitute "O, Scissors!" and "O, Ginger!" which were suggested in place of profanity.

The men tried these exciting substitutes once or twice but choked on them and quit.

But they worked out of the swearing habit while they were about it, according to Nat Bartlett, the tabernacle secretary. He had just had a new sign put up:

NO PROFANITY HERE.

But Secretary Nat says it isn't needed, that it's just a reminder.

"We've got a good class of workmen here. The signs against profanity have been lived up to," continued Secretary Bartlett.

"Treat men right and they'll do what you want them to do. That's what we've done for these men. We've just given them freedom and told them not to swear and they haven't, to our knowledge.

"We have never driven the men. Superintendent L. L. Williams, who has charge of them, is a fine sort of a man. You couldn't help liking him. When he tells the men not to swear, they don't swear.

"We have put signs just to warn, but I feel the men now have been well trained.

"I tell people the building of this tabernacle has a good lot to do with getting these men out of the swearing habit.

"When Billy Sunday comes here we're going to tell him how we anticipated his coming by abolishing the swearing habit."

Arthur W. Robinson, secretary of the Billy Sunday headquarters, was kept busy yesterday at his desk answering questions from visitors from all sections of New England.

"Many people come from all over New England, and they want to know about the collections and what's the price of admission," said Mr. Robinson.

"There is no admission fee. Every meeting in the afternoon is free. So is every evening meeting, but with this restriction, that there are certain sections of the tabernacle we reserve for organizations, for working girls and others. But this is only in the evening.

"It ought to be distinctly understood that the meetings are open to all. Then some want to know how we pay expenses. A collection will be taken up every meeting to pay for the expenses of the tabernacle, and when the obligations have been met these collections will stop. The free will offering for Billy Sunday is taken at the close of the meetings."

The Second Battalion includes Batteries D, E and F, all of Salem.

The battalion is routed home by way of Texarkana, St. Louis, Toledo, Albany and Boston.

GONZALES AND OBREGON HOSTILE

By WILLIAM D. HASSETT,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Disaffection among General Carranza's military chieftains is not confined to those at the head of northern commands. Reports reaching Washington today disclose that General Pablo Gonzales, at the head of the de facto forces in Morelos, is in open revolt against Minister of War Obregon, and that the breach between Obregon and Carranza is fully growing wider.

Obregon as the head of the War Department has withheld arms and equipment both from General Gonzales and General Trevino, in command at Chihuahua. The result has been that both of these generals have been forced to play a sorry figure in the face of repeated rebel attacks. The attitude of the United States in the event of Carranza's abdication cannot be determined in advance. But Trevino is counting upon the solid support of all those northern leaders, including Villa, himself, who for weeks have been quietly organizing on the border what is declared to be the most formidable movement seen in Mexico since Madero overthrew Diaz five years ago.

ROFRANO JUROR ILL, TRIAL IS HALTED

New York, Oct. 19.—Sudden illness of Juror John E. Hearth today caused a postponement of further hearings in the trial of Michael A. Rofrano on the charge of inciting the murder of Michael Galmary.

If Hearth is not able to attend court by the end of the week a mistrial may result.

PLAN TO RELIEVE PORT CONGESTION

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Believing that the increasing congestion in the transportation of the United States is costing the American public millions of dollars a day, the Interstate Commerce Commission today announced that it had commenced an investigation into the problem. As an initial step the commission has asked the railroads to file statistics of car movements, which will show from where and to what points the heaviest traffic is at different seasons of the year.

The European war has brought about radical changes in the transportation system of the country, vast shipments now moving night and day over routes which were comparatively little traveled before 1914. Efforts are being made to open up new routes to ports which will relieve congestion at the North Atlantic terminals.

This revolution of traffic has upset normal conditions resulting in serious car shortages at one place and great congestion at another, damage being inflicted by both conditions.

EVELYN THAW TO GET $40,000 FROM FILMS

Thaw, has gone into moving picture acting with her five-year-old son, Russell Thaw, and their first six-feature will be shown before the first of the year. For her work before the camera, the former Evelyn Nesbit will receive between $40,000 and $50,000.

Romeo Is Jailed After Day of Bliss

Romeo was in the South Boston court today not however the Romeo made famous by Shakespeare in the famous tragedy of Romeo and Juliet. The South Boston Romeo was or will be a millionaire for a day. He smoked dollar cigars before he shook his wedded bliss and trotted each of the peninsula district and then hied himself to the North End, where he bought red wine and blue wine for the natives and purged them with spaghetti and other appetizing dishes.

The next day himself was back in South Boston, where he said he could not borrow a cigar of tobacco from his friends of old times.

The story was told in the local court today when Romeo Santelli was charged with beating his father, Antonio Santelli, of 161 Third street. Romeo long ago, like the prodigal son, left the fatted calf for the husks and on the latter relishing, waited until the old gentleman retired and was asleep when he slipped the roll from under his pillow. The money is being expended for a trip to the North End following.

Judge Dee continued the case for one week in default of paying sentence and Romeo was sent to the Charles street jail.

"Service Costs More Than Milk"

Springfield, Oct. 19.—C. H. Hood of Boston, president of the International Milk Dealers' Association, declared at the association banquet today that the "service" costs more than the "milk" in their business. He said in part:

"We have failed to spend as much time as we should on how to give the people a better quality of milk than they ever got before at the lowest possible price consistent with safety. It is a long, long way from the old red cow and the old tin can to modern methods of milk handling, and many of us have failed to equip ourselves with proper apparatus to do the work efficiently.

"We have been criticised in the matter of milk distribution more than anything else, and we must not fail to remember that as dealers it is a necessity of life we must use every effort to distribute and merchandise a wholesome one. We have failed to show the people that we have two things to sell—milk and service, and that the service costs more than the milk."

Arrest Wedding Guest for Fraud

N. C. Halstead of South Brewer, Me., was arrested at Cary Farm, Lexington, the residence of his aunt, Mrs. Edward Hayes, attending the wedding of his cousin, Miss Alice Cary Read, to W. Malcolm Bullivant.

Chief of Police Franks had received a message from the Portland police asking him to arrest the young man.

It is charged that Halstead raised $75 on a draft on September 20 by fraud. The draft was cashed at the Portland National Bank, and was drawn on the Northampton, Pa., National Bank. The draft was returned to the Portland bank marked "Insufficient funds."

Halstead was recently employed as a bond salesman by Parkinson & Burr of No. 53 State street, Boston. He will be taken to Portland for a hearing after the necessary requisition papers have been received and the formalities have been complied with.

CONNECT PARALYSIS WITH 'STRIKE MILK'

A new and more serious phase of the scandal in the milk supply of Boston was developed today when the investigation being conducted under the direction of the attorney-general's office spread to Holyoke and the theory that the recently prevalent infantile paralysis may be due to milk from diseased cows in Boston and elsewhere is seriously considered in official circles.

Holyoke has had outbreaks of paralysis in proportion to the population of any city in the state, and Dr. Samuel Chesrite, today it was learned that with Asst. Attorney-General C. S. Lyttinger, who is getting evidence of milk violations for the Attorney-General's office, has uncovered numerous cases where impure milk was shipped to Boston.

Physicians at Johns Hopkins who discovered the germ of infantile paralysis declared milk was one of the carriers for the germ and a frequent source of infection.

HOPE NEW LIGHT FROM MILK.

State health officials today declared that a thorough analysis of all possible cases to ascertain the source of milk supply might throw a new light on the growth of infantile paralysis cases throughout the state.

It was pointed out that infantile paralysis has shown big increase in Boston and Massachusetts since the general adoption of the "strike" system of milk handling, and many of us have failed to equip ourselves with proper apparatus to do the work efficiently.

"We have been criticised in the matter of milk distribution more than anything else, and we must not fail to remember that as dealers it is a necessity of life we must use every effort to distribute and merchandise a wholesome one. We have failed to show the people that we have two things to sell—milk and service, and that the service costs more than the milk."

BAD MILK IN HOLYOKE.

Bacteriologist Lythgoe today telephoned his office from Holyoke that he found much bad milk in Holyoke, and that much milk had been shipped to Boston from there to places not inspected to ship milk to Boston. Holyoke would seem to have to make up the shortage of Boston milk dealers on account of the farmers' milk strike.

Lythgoe and his four assistants have been on the job since the report of the board of health, which has become alarmed at the prevalence of infantile paralysis cases and the high death rate from same.

It is believed the State department of health will now conduct a fight of extermination for the germ. To ascertain how the spread of infantile paralysis is at all connected with the alleged sale of impure milk in Boston on account of the farmers' strike.

Dr. Samuel Mauchinthe, head of the State department of health, is to be given full charge of the investigation. Dr. Hosley is now being flooded with adulterated milk, with milk made from "powder" and with milk coming from tuberculous sources, according to the men who have placed the coming before the Attorney-General's office.

In connection with the new charges that have been made against some of the Boston milk dealers, startling criticism was made at the annual meeting of the New England Milk Producers' Association against the Boston milk dealers, a committee of which President James C. Jordan is the head. This committee is already under investigation by the State Department of Health on charges that they have prosecuted milk dealers in Boston for violations and misdemeanors, and that they will be driven out of business and threaten to give a free fight to the finish.

NEW CHANGES MADE.

The specific new charges made today are:

That dozen carloads of milk consigned to Boston from an unlicensed source in Canada passed through Newport, Vt., in an express shipping car, and that this milk was found to be unfit for the Boston milk inspection after it arrived.

That unlicensed dairies at Chester, Vt., are supplying milk to Boston dealers, and that a wholesale milk business is made from "powder" now purchased at stores in Cambridge in bottles of a big Boston milk dealer.

That a representative of the Boston dealer admitted at a meeting of farmers at Hamilton, Vt., that he had purchased milk from a farmer who had been refused by the department has secured evidence that milk has been watered and will have Professor Jordan submit his test to the grand jury, it is said.

TRACING MILK POWDER.

Two samples of milk bought in Cambridge are being analyzed by the state bacteriologists department to ascertain if the milk was made from powder. The milk was procured by inspectors and put in Separate and was in bottles of a large milk company in Boston.

It was noticeable that this milk leaves a substance on the side of the bottles like grey dust and it is said this always results when milk is made from powder. Genuine cow's milk is said to leave only a smooth, velvety surface.

If it is found that the milk was made from "milk powder," Attorney Sweetser declared that the manufacturer and dealer will be prosecuted for selling the product as milk, without labelling it as a manufactured product.

OUT OF STATE OFFENDERS.

That evidence has already been secured by State authorities of the shipment here of adulterated and heavily watered milk on account of the shortage was revealed today and prosecutions will follow. It is stated this milk came from out-of-State dairies and the Federal authorities will be asked to also act in the matter, it was said.

REPORT U-BOAT SUNK OFF NANTUCKET

The German submarine U-53 was sunk off Nantucket by the British, according to a report brought to Norfolk today by the British steamship North Pacific, and contained in dispatches from Norfolk to Boston.

The date of the submarine's sinking was not given. That the submarine referred to in the report was the U-53 is only presumption, for the report did not identify her.

The North Pacific went into Hampton Roads from New Orleans Monday night and coaled at Norfolk.

While coaling there her officers told inquirers this story:

"We were signalled off the coast by a British cruiser," one said.

"They asked the usual questions, then allowed us to proceed. We asked, 'Shall we look out for submarines?' They replied by wireless:

"'German submarine sunk east of Nantucket.'

"We assumed they meant the U-53."

The belief was growing here today that the U-53 had been destroyed. That German war submarine put into Newport, R. I., a week ago last Saturday. She took on board a number of newspapers, some of them containing the lists of ships sailing from Boston and New York on previous days.

LEFT IN THREE HOURS.

A number of civilians went on board the war craft, and it was learned today that Captain Rose, her commander, with two sailors, went ashore incognito.

Three hours after entering Newport she put out to sea. That was Saturday night. At dawn Sunday morning, the wireless stations at Newport received an S. O. S. call from a ship sinking off the Nantucket Lightship. Destroyers were rushed out to the scene, and a busy day for them followed.

The U-53 stopped at least six ships. One, an American craft, she allowed to proceed to Boston. That was the Kansan. Five others, she cleared of passengers and crews and then sank. The sinking of a sixth ship was reported, but never confirmed.

All this during the day of Sunday. Immediately, from their stations in all parts of the North Atlantic, allied destroyers and cruisers began to rush to the spot. At dawn Monday three of them had arrived off Nantucket.

Thereafter nothing authentic was heard from the U-53. She was reported sighted on Tuesday and also on Friday, but neither report was of a nature to be conclusive.

TWO THEORIES.

The fact that she did not again appear gave rise to two theories. One was that she had gone directly back to Germany, the other that she had been destroyed by the allied war craft.

There was a report on the Monday after her cruise warfare against commerce and enemy commerce that she had sunk three allied warcraft off Nantucket, but this report could not be confirmed and appeared extremely doubtful.

Secret service men were today reported to be in Newport investigating all the circumstances of her call there.

Germany to Keep Up U-Boat Work Here

London, Oct. 19.—Germany intends to keep up her submarine activities off the United States coast, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam today. The correspondent of the Volks Zeitung of Cologne as saying: "German submarines will operate in the future in the western Atlantic. They will visit the well-known shipping routes around the eastern point of Nantucket Island and will sink British merchantmen after giving the crews opportunity to save themselves."

COLEMAN SPENDS NIGHT IN CELL

per prisoner would be, and hear what was said. Again the master seemed surprised, but made no protest whatever.

We went down into the office and looked up the vacant cells. There was one, cell 10 in the north ward, fifth division, of the old prison, which had prisoners on every side. I said I would take that one, and a guard was detailed to take me to it.

"I have a theory that if a man is to deal with institutions he should visit them at least once a year in the most intimate capacity possible. I put the theory into practice.

"It was nearing 10 o'clock when I entered and was locked into the cell. The lights were still going in the corridors and I saw men sitting on their beds reading. A short while before a song had rung. The guard explained that it was the 'end of the smoking period.'

BLANKETS TOO SMALL.

"I had been in the cell only a few moments when the lights were turned off. I undressed in the dark and went to bed. These beds are made of iron piping for framework, are flush against the wall and the bottoms are cross-roped, checkerboard-like steel bands. This forms at once slats and spring. The mattress is over this. It is a straw mattress and not uncomfortable. I found that the sheets and blankets were very small. They were so small that one could not tuck them in on either side so you have to balance them on you to keep them on during the night. I spoke to Master Burke about this in the morning.

"I was in the worst ward of the oldest prison. Only the longer term men are located there. I listened during the first part of the night for any complaints. I heard only one call and that might have been someone talking in his sleep. It was not repeated. A loud voice complained, 'Shut that window.' Shortly afterward I heard a guard walking about evidently investigating the noise. There was no more sound, so evidently the trouble was righted, if any existed.

AWAKENED BY LIGHT.

"Guards came along two or three times, and once I was awakened by the electric flashlight of a guard thrown into my cell.

"I began to get hungry about midnight. It is not my custom to go to bed until that time. So I was wakeful. I thought of some peanuts in my coat and got up and ate them.

"This morning I found the mackerel were very tasty. There was plenty of boiled potatoes and bread. There could have been no change in the mackerel, for they have to be soaked over night, and I did not say anything about staying until morning until nearly ten at night after all the kitchen hands were in their cells.

"Deer Island is conducted the way I like to see an institution run. I found Master Burke reasonable, decent, but not lax. The way the 'dope' cases are being handled struck me as exceptionally good. The quarantine is successful. Master Burke deserves a great deal of credit."

Easy Way to Get Rid of Itching

Don't worry any more about that itching skin-trouble. Just get a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap at any drug store. With the Resinol Soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened; then very gently, spread on a thin layer of the Resinol Ointment, and cover with a light bandage — if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again. For trial free, write to Dept. 9-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—Advertisement.

FITZGERALD IN RACE TO STAY, WILL MEET LODGE ANYWHERE

Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald in the contest to make an effort to get the Progressive support by the recognition of one of their leaders.

Coolidge said he believed the best interests of the situation would be served by Fitzgerald remaining in the fight. There was a general assent to the proposition, since all present and Fitzgerald consented.

As to the effect of the situation on the results, Fitzgerald is very optimistic. He believes that his offer to give up the nomination to men like ex-Governor Douglas, Matthew Hale, Richard Olney and Dr. C. W. Eliot of Harvard will strengthen his candidacy with the independent voters of the State.

Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald's statement in regard to his Senatorial candidacy says:

"At a meeting of the party leaders including the nominees of the State ticket it was unanimously voted that I should stay in the fight.

"I cordially invite all those who believe in the upbuilding of Massachusetts along the broadest and most progressive lines to join me in the effort I will make to defeat Senator Lodge. In making this contest I am prompted by no personal motives or selfish interests. I believe the spirit which Mr. Lodge incarnates to be hostile to the advance of Massachusetts. I believe it is time there should be a change from the standpat ideas of Mr. Lodge at the National Capital, and while I personally was anxious that some one else should make the fight, now that the banner has been definitely placed in my charge I welcome the opportunity to present the issues for the Commonwealth against Mr. Lodge.

"I promise a vigorous and energetic campaign and solicit the support of all forward looking men of the Commonwealth regardless of party affiliations.

PRINCIPLES COUNT.

"In these serious times, principles are counting more and more—mere personalities less and less. The day when the American public acted as if they thought that their only privilege as freemen was the selection of political masters for the terms of their respective offices has now passed. Today we regard them actually to be what theoretically they always were—our public servants, selected to carry out our policies, not theirs.

"Therefore, the decisive consideration in an election is the political principles a candidate represents. His scholarship and ability and public experience amounts to nothing unless it is employed to promote the policies and things which the public believe to be in their interest.

CHALLENGE TO LODGE.

"The people of the State can best judge of my qualifications against Senator Lodge's by hearing both of us on the same platform so that any misstatement of either can be corrected by the other in the presence of the same audience. This will afford the people of Massachusetts a good means of judging between the widely divergent political principles of each and the personal ability and sincere intentions of each to maintain the policies and principles for which he stands.

"So I invite Mr. Lodge to speak from the same platform with me in every section of the State from now until election day. This is the good old-fashioned method. It is a much needed departure from the present unconvincing method of campaigning in which only one side of a question is heard, and the other side is never heard at all.

"Or if Mr. Lodge has made any engagements inconsistent with this invitation I will accept an invitation to speak with him anywhere he has already arranged to speak."

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK.

Coolidge announced that President Wilson will speak in Boston on Oct. 30, and that Governor Walsh will preside at the meeting.

Former Governor Foss' name was proposed by Lomasney, but Judge Riley declared if Foss were selected he (Riley) would take the stump for Lodge. That settled the Foss candidacy.

FITZGERALD INSISTS ON HALE.

The conference lasted for nearly two hours, during which time Fitzgerald insisted upon naming Chairman Hale of the Progressives. He said that he believed it would be a good thing for the Democratic party

15 FLEE FIRE IN FISH PIER BUS

Fifteen men passengers in an auto bus spilled themselves through the door or windows of the vehicle when it caught fire from back-firing of the engine in front of the Commonwealth Pier in South Boston today.

The bus is one of a line plying between the foot of State street on the city water front to the Fish Pier on the South Boston side. The early runs are patronized chiefly by men working on the piers.

This bus arrived in front of Commonwealth Pier at 6.45. The engine back-fired, flames shot up, catching the woodwork of the bus.

The passengers leaped for the first exit handy, most of them going through the open windows. The flames were near the door, so the window route was more inviting.

All got out without serious injury, but there was considerable leg and shoulder rubbing, as though several passengers had hit framework on the way out.

230,000 Mackerel in Three Casts, New Fish Pier Record

Captain John Matheson brought the fishing schooner Arthur James to the Fish Pier today with 130,000 pounds of mackerel and the pier record for a total catch of 230,000 pounds in three casts of the seine. This total netted each man of the crew a share of $400—his earnings from Monday afternoon to today.

The Arthur James sailed from Provincetown Monday. In sight of Highland Light it struck a school of mackerel. The seine was cast and 100,000 pounds of fish were pulled in. The hold was filled. Mackerel overflowed on the deck. Then the Arthur James raced for the Fish Pier and caught the Tuesday market for $10,000.

The schooner yesterday struck a second school off Plymouth for 80,000 pounds, and another school which gave them 50,000 pounds more, a total of 130,000 pounds for this second trip. Today's lot sold for $9,000.

SOMERVILLE MAN GASHES THROAT

Edward Walsh, fifty-nine years, of No. 316 Somerville avenue, Somerville, this morning with a razor early today and is in the Central Hospital in that city in serious condition. The police say it is a case of attempted suicide.

Mrs. Ida Doughty, a neighbor of Walsh, who lives at the same address, heard a crash when Walsh fell to the floor. She ran to his assistance, and found him lying on the floor with blood spurting from a gash in his neck. She notified the police and the injured man was sent to the hospital in their ambulance.

Walsh is an engineer, but has not been at work for nine weeks. His wife died two years ago. Despondency brought on by brooding over her death is believed to have been responsible for his act.

A secret marriage of two years has been revealed through the death of Harold Lynde at the home of his father, Henry Lynde, a prosperous Melrose farmer. Grace Holditch, who lives with her family in Riverside place, Melrose, announced that she had married the dead man on August 1, 1914, by the Rev. Harold Marshall of the First Universalist Church.

The couple had been sweethearts for many years, in fact ever since leaving school they had been together a great deal.

Friends were much surprised to learn of the marriage, but owing to the circumstances refrained from questioning the young woman as to the reasons that caused them to keep the marriage a secret.

Three other members of the Lynde family are also ill with typhoid and are now in the Melrose Hospital.

Good News for Housewives

Crawford Ranges

are now equipped with convenient Gas End Ovens of the new, improved Drop-broiler type —with center-heat burners.

Unlike some so-called "combination" ranges, the Crawford has two separate and distinct ovens: one for gas and one for coal—both perfect.

The Crawford Gas Oven is larger and better than most ovens. It is fitted with the only safety lighter approved by the American Museum of Safety.

Good cooking, always a habit with all Crawfords, is now made doubly easy, convenient and pleasurable. Folded beneath the oven (out of the way when not in use) is the new, ingenious Drop-broiler.

This convenient feature is a great aid to better cooking because it permits instantaneous adjustment of distance between flame and food — without touching the pan — without bending over.

Other important features are the five center-fire top burners of a new type (most ranges have only three), concealed pipes, sanitary top gratings and guarded cocks.

Then there is the famous Single Damper that regulates fire and oven with a single move of an always-cool knob.

When you go to your Crawford Dealer and investigate these and the many other distinctive Crawford superiorities — you will realize why there's no range like the Crawford in the world.

BRITAIN IS TO EXTEND CONSCRIPTION

the army," he declared, "of whom 82,000 were Catholics. There were 24,000 Irishmen in the navy. In addition, 20,000 Nationalist Volunteers joined the colors."

Lloyd George, on the other hand, said the total of Irish recruits in the war was 185,000.

Of interest also were declarations of Premier Asquith and the Irish Secretary, Henry Edward Duke, that there was no present intention of the government to change its political policy toward Ireland.

PROMISE, TO CONFER.

War Secretary Lloyd George made a conciliatory speech which did not relieve the adverse impression created among the Irish by the speeches of the Premier and Secretary Duke.

John Dillon asserted that on Lord Kitchener's instructions, the commanding general in Ireland was forbidden to speak to the Irish leaders for three months.

Redmond blamed Premier Asquith for the "mistakes" which led to the present situation in Ireland.

The inclusion of Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, was the final blow, Redmond declared. Thousands of Irishmen view it as betrayal. Redmond declared he had pleaded earnestly with the Premier not to include Sir Edward or any Irishman in the Cabinet, but that his words had been useless.

The speaker further declared that as long as the present government and martial law continued in Ireland all hope of mending the breach must be abandoned. He held forth no hope that Irish battalions, at the front could be maintained at their full strength through new enlistments from Ireland. He regretted that the Irish forces should bear their national character, but laid great stress on the state of feeling in Ireland today.

PLEA FOR PRISONERS.

He suggested that the only way in which Ireland could be reconciled was by the removal of martial law, the release of the interned prisoners taken in the revolution and by the immediate operation of Home Rule.

He pointed out that the present "unhappy situation" as regards Ireland was alienating sympathy from England's war efforts in America and the British colonies.

Redmond then went on to point out other mistakes of the government which had "injured Nationalist pride and alienated Nationalist sympathy." One of these was the refusal to allow an officers' school to be organized in the Irish national university, which Trinity University was granted many privileges.

The difficult task of the Nationalists to popularize the army had been systematically thwarted, Redmond continued.

"I am convinced," Redmond said at one time, "that if the situation had been dealt with as General Botha was allowed to deal with the uprising in South Africa, the situation would have been saved."

He then uttered a solemn warning that any attempt at compulsion by the present government at Dublin would only lead to further serious consequences.

Redmond tried to depreciate the revolution as a "local affair." But he was informed that the British government did not view the revolt as "a local affair," the hint being that the government regarded it was a very serious event.

Redmond was answered by Premier Asquith, Secretary of War Lloyd-George and Secretary Duke.

Secretary Duke said there are still 576 Irishmen imprisoned as a result of the Dublin revolt.

DEFENDS MARTIAL LAW.

He asserted that the restraint in Ireland was absolutely necessary and that martial law was the only measure of restraint available at this time and as would have to continue to be employed.

T. P. O'Connor declared that all Secretary Duke's words meant was more coercion and that coercion had never yet succeeded in Ireland.

When the Premier referred to the Irish political prisoners, there were storms of protest. Timothy Healy cried that Secretary Duke was "the worst jailer we ever had," and Alfred Hyrne, another Nationalist, shouted out: "They are starving."

The Premier's speech was received unfavorably. It was severely criticised by Joseph Devlin, Nationalist, who declared that not a single suggestion made offered any solution.

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

25-cent "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—soon but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—and surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Advertisement.

Expect U. S. to Keep Hands Off in Greece

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Oct. 19—State Department officials today were deeply concerned over the possibilities of Greek requests for intervention by the United States in the critical situation now confronting the government at Athens. A "hands-off" policy was plainly the course in the minds of these officials.

While the demands from Greece, first from the provisional Venizelos government asking the privilege of recruiting Greek reservists in the United States, and second from a group of Greek citizens asking the United States to interfere to prevent further encroachments on Grecian sovereignty by the entente powers were only informally before the department, they were admittedly an unpleasant development. Neither the State Department nor the royal Greek legation here, however, have been officially notified of either of the demands. Charge d'Affaires Vouros asserted that he had heard nothing directly from Athens. He declared war conditions had interrupted his communications.

"While we know that conditions in Greece are very acute," he said, "we cannot credit the accounts which state that King Constantine has left the capital or that he has planned to abdicate the throne. It is highly probable that influential Greek citizens will look to the United States for aid, because Greece has always, since the days of Clay and Webster, looked upon this country as its staunch friend among the great powers."

Teuton Push Halted, Claim of Petrograd

London, Oct. 19.—Repulse of German and Austrain counter-attacks in Galicia and the halting of the Carpathian offensive south of Dorna Watra, are reported by the Russian War office.

On the other hand Berlin announces that despite the most violent efforts, the Russians have been unable to advance in Volhynia, and that their blows west of Lutsk have resulted in the heaviest losses to the Czar's troops. At one point the Teutonic troops carried a Russian supporting point in a sharp drive, capturing 350 men and a number of machine guns.

Heavy fighting continues in Galicia, the Teutons employing every arm at their command in withstanding the Russian blows. Poison gas and flaming liquids have again been brought into play.

On several sectors of this front the Austro-Germans, carrying out the theory that the best defence is a strong offensive, have delivered great blows against the Russian front, but have been unable to penetrate it at any point.

Especially violent fighting is being waged in the Kerynitza region, the Germans being on the offensive. Petrograd announces that all their attacks were repulsed.

France Has New Plan for Action in Greece

Paris, Oct. 19.—The French government contemplates further action in regard to Greece, it was learned today. The nature of this action is not known, but Premier Briand is said to have a definite program in hand.

It is explained in an official statement that France has no designs upon the constitutional liberty of Greece. The French bluejackets and marines landed at Athens were sent ashore merely to help the police preserve order.

A telegram from Salonica today makes it plain that the revolutionary government, headed by M. Venizelos, will go to war against Bulgaria. M. Venizelos is quoted as following in replying to an address by French supporters.

"We are determined to preserve our treaty obligations with Serbia and to safeguard our vital interest by fighting by the side of our powerful protector."

WAR SUMMARY

Terrific fighting on the Somme front continued today. The French have mastered the village of Sailly-Saillisel and have also captured parts of a line of trenches southwest of Peronne, running from Biaches to La Maisonette. Neither gain is of any particular importance, strategically or in territory taken. The net result of more than a week of the hardest possible attacks by the allied forces is an advance that can be measured in yards.

Bapaume appears as secure as it was October 1, and so does Peronne. Chaulnes is menaced by a French gain to the north of that town, but its situation is not yet serious.

The Teutons, having driven the Rumanians to a line roughly corresponding to the Rumanian frontier, have either relaxed their drive or have been halted by the Rumanian defence. As has been said more than once, there is as yet no military indication of a plan to invade Rumania on the part of the Teutons. The Teutonic armies are in a favorable position for such an invasion, and that is about all that can be said. Thus far, all Teutonic activity against the Rumanians has been merely of a nature to secure strong defensive positions, and these defensive positions have been secured and are now held.

The Russian front from Lutsk southward was active yesterday. The net results were a number of costly repulses for the Russians and a small gain at one point for the German forces. The Russians at no point gained any ground.

The western Macedonian front was active as usual yesterday, but nothing of any importance developed. When we see Greece once committed to the allies' cause—and the allies, having seized her navy, her railroads and her capital, seem on the point of forcing her to commit herself—it is probable that this Greek campaign will begin to develop. The Serbians claim to have recaptured Brod, west of Salonica. This town has now thrice changed hands.

ALLIES IN CONTROL OF ATHENS POLICE

London, Oct. 19.—While Greece seethes with unrest, the Athens government has taken hasty steps to appease the allies with fresh concessions.

The Lambros cabinet has accepted the demand that an entente officer be given authority over the police. He will work conjointly with the Greek prefect of police. The Greek cabinet has further issued a manifesto to the populace prohibiting anti-entente manifestations. In spite of the concessions of the Greek cabinet, however, more French forces have been landed to reinforce the detachments of bluejackets and marines in Piraeus and Athens.

The allied military authorities are sending also troops into other districts where uprisings are threatened.

READY FOR FLIGHT.

Special automobiles and a railway train are being held in readiness for the flight of King Constantine and the royal family, it is reported in an Athens dispatch. The cabinet meeting on Wednesday, at which new demands of the allies were met, took place while mobs surged through the streets of Athens. Premier Lambros counselled the Greeks to remain calm, but his words had little effect.

The mobs, however, showed a wholesome fear for the gleaming bayonets in the hands of the French troops and dispersed whenever detachments of the French drew near.

In one instance a battle seemed imminent in the Athens streets when the French met a body of Greek reservists, who were shouting, "Down with the allies." The reservists quickly fled, however.

MARINES PATROL STREETS.

All of the streets of Athens are now being patrolled by armed marines. All movements of Greek troops have been prohibited.

A news agency dispatch from Athens says that King Constantine has given his personal pledge that the government contemplates no hostile action against the allies. The telegram adds that Constantine, to show his good faith, promised to withdraw the Greek troops from Larissa to the rear of the allies' lines.

Greek newspapers give much space to the petition asking the protection of the United States against further encroachments of the allies, but the belief is general that it will have no effect. It is regarded as a certainty that it will not change the program of the allies.

BERLIN TAXIS TO DO ARMY SERVICE

Berlin, via The Hague to London, Oct. 18.—Berliners will in the near future have to endeavor to arrive at the theatres in time for the play without the use of taxicabs to speed their trip. It is planned to forbid the use of these vehicles for trips to and from theatres, concert halls and other places of amusement. The taxicabs thus freed, it is hoped, will be available to serve a more important purpose.

The new restrictions are expected in some measure to help solve the distressing question of automobile scarcity.

FRENCH MAKE PROGRESS IN NEW ASSAULTS AT PERONNE

By CHARLES F. BERTELLI.

Paris, Oct. 19.—Cautious for the time being their attacks in the region of Sailisel, the French drove forward during the night against the German forces in front of Peronne and made progress.

The War Office communique today reported that the French attacked in forces between Biaches and La Maisonnette, where the Germans were compelled to fall back. North of the Somme the French have completely consolidated their new position at Sailly-Saillisel. The Germans made a counter-attack in that sector, but it was easily repulsed, the communique stated.

There have been more heavy rainstorms on the French front, and the latest fighting has been carried out in deep mud and between shell craters that have been turned into miniature lakes.

The Biaches-La Maisonnette line, where the French attacked, lies directly west of Peronne. It is at this point the French front approaches most closely to the German stronghold of Peronne.

The text of the official statement follows:

"North of the Somme our troops during the night organized Sailly-Saillisel and consolidated the positions conquered by them beyond this village.

MAINTAIN GAINS.

"Counter attacks against Sailly-Saillisel were stifled in our barrier fire and all our gains were maintained intact.

"South of the Somme we made new progress between Maisonnette and Biaches.

"In Lorraine, an enemy surprise attack near Dures was repulsed.

"Yesterday, during the operations south of the Somme, our aviators attacked with their machine guns enemy troops in the region of Biaches.

"Adjutant Dorme, on October 16, brought down a German aeroplane north of Peronne, bringing up to fourteen the number of machines shot down by him.

"Another enemy machine on the same day was seen to be seriously damaged and was forced to descend south of Beaulancourt."

BULGARS REPULSED.

"In the region of Lake Doiran Bulgarian attacks in the night of October 17 against our positions north of Doldzeli were repulsed with serious losses for the enemy.

"In the mountainous region of Dobrogulje the battle continues favorably for the Serbians.

"Despite the stubborn resistance of the enemy on the left bank of the Cserna, Serbian troops conquered in the course of a brilliant engagement the village of Erod. Fifty prisoners remained in their hands.

"On our left wing the artillery battle continues with violence."

20,000 RUSSIANS AID RUMANIANS

By International News Service.

Berlin, Oct. 19.—A whole division of Russian reinforcements (20,000 men) has reached Rumania during the past two days and is taking part in the counter assaults that the Russo-Rumanian forces are delivering against General Von Falkenhayn's armies on the Transylvania front.

Dispatches from the front today state that very heavy fighting is in progress around Fraden, Pass, south of Kronstadt. These dispatches state that Russian officers are directing both the Rumanian and Russian operations.

Two Men Held as German Plotters

By International News Service.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—August Schrader, self-styled divine healer, and Jacob Koniz are held by the Toronto officials in connection with an alleged pro-German plot fostered by American-born Germans and believed hatched in Chicago, according to word received here today.

The Chicago police were asked to investigate and were given the names of suspects here.

Schrader, when arrested, said he was Billy Sunday and his companion gave his name as Pastor Russell. They declared they were on their way to Europe to heal wounded soldiers, but papers found in their rooms indicated they were instituting a pro-German propaganda.

U. S. Armored Car Proves Success

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 19.—Army officers today expressed great gratification over the tests at the Sandy Hook proving ground of the first armored railway car ever built for the United States army.

The car, which resembles a moving blockhouse, was completed and delivered to the government twenty-seven days after it was ordered. It is designed for patrol work and its equipment consists of one three-inch field gun and twenty machine guns.

One million dollars it is said will buy and equip about twenty trains of ten cars each. The car was built by the Standard Steel Car Company of Hammond, Ind.

'Darn' Is Mild for Wellesley 'Poet'

Wellesley poets hit on "doggone it" to express strong emotions, but as time passed budding singers of verse demanded something shorter and "darn" was brought into the college songs. Now a versifier has set the pace for some futuristic pedler in jingles by admitting plain "damn" into the songs in the Wellesley College News and it was passed for publication without a quiver.

The poem, which saves its climax for the last word, is as follows:

It suddenly began to rain
As I was reading New Poetry in the Library.
I had to walk home in the drizzle
And the drenching dark.
The rain soaked my hair and ankles,
My delicate curved French heels
Sank in the squashy mud.
I felt like a drowned rat
On whom somebody has thrown a pan of dish water.
The cat would have hissed and spit,
But I only said "damn."

REFUTES ENGLISH U-BOAT CHARGES

Washington, Oct. 19.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, acting Secretary of the Navy in the absence of Josephus Daniels, has written the following for the International News Service, in reply to the British charge that the United States navy aided the German submarine, U-53:

It can be stated definitely that the destroyers of the United States navy which went to the vicinity of the Nantucket Shoals light vessel on Sunday, October 8 in response to S. O. S. calls, did not in any way violate their duty of neutrality in regard to the vessels sunk or the passengers and crews thereof.

It can be stated that the navy was in absolute accordance with international law and the dictates of humanity.

Mr. Roosevelt's denial of the charges made in the British House of Lords by Earl Grey, Lord Beresford and others, is based upon the official reports of the admirals and all the commanders of torpedo destroyers who took part in rescuing passengers and crews from the ships sunk by the German submarine U-53.

RECENT STATEMENTS.

The officers of the United States navy, without exception, resent the charges and insinuations against the navy in the House of Lords. They are especially indignant over this assertion made by Viscount Grey, the British foreign secretary.

Nor do we know whether American ships of war facilitated the operations of the submarine.

This, it was declared, was practically equivalent to saying that the British government sanctioned the United States navy of committing unneutral acts to assist a belligerent war vessel.

The State Department is unlikely to take public cognizance of Viscount Grey's utterances, unless the charges made are more specific.

MAKES DENIAL.

The English allegation that collusion was shown by an American destroyer which got out of the way to permit the U-53 to torpedo a ship, is dealt with thus by an admiral in a position to know all the facts:

One of our boats was close to a vessel about to be torpedoed. The U-boat commander cold our destroyer commander he was about to torpedo the ship, and of course the American boat, naturally and properly and wisely, got out of the way. That was neither collusion nor unneutrality.

REPORT SEIZURE OF GERMAN MAIL

New York, Oct. 19.—The Scandinavian-American liner United States, which arrived from Copenhagen today, reported the seizure of a great quantity of German mail by the British at Kirkwall. A seventeen-year-old girl among the passengers died and was buried at sea.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

"WILSON CARRIED A DISHRAG," SAYS ROOSEVELT IN NEW ATTACK

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 19.—The Blue-grass State re-echoed today with the Colonel Roosevelt's "dishrag" slap at President Wilson. Stumping here for Hughes the Colonel wound up a vigorous attack on the Administration and its policies with this:

"Instead of speaking softly and carrying a big stick, President Wilson spoke humanitarily and carried a dishrag."

President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard College also came in for hearty attack for praising Wilson. Some of the more caustic utterances of Colonel Roosevelt were:

"President Wilson wrote to Mrs. committed himself to the statement that he was willing to fight, but was not willing for anything worth fighting for, for something that could put all the corpuscles of an enlightened man shaking.

"It would be interesting to know exactly what outrage on American citizens, or on the rights of humanity anywhere, would make him cross the line between 'willing to fight' and 'too proud to fight.'

"The murder of 1,134 men, women and children on the Lusitania did not put all the corpuscles of his blood into shouting shape.

"His outrageous and not even can be no more severe condemnation of Mr. Wilson than to say that he is not unworthy of such praise.

"It would be unfair in China to compare Dr. Eliot with even an old-school Chinese statesman."

Tells a Secret

Manufacturer of Famous Medicine Tells Ingredients, So Public Can Appreciate Pure, Reliable Medicine.

Many people fear to take medicine to check and abort colds, cure coughs, catarrh, etc. This fear is groundless with all the products of The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio. Not one contains opiates, narcotics or harmful drugs. Mentho-Laxene, for coughs, colds, catarrh and all distress following a cold, is a compound of Wild Cherry, Tolu, Cascara, Grindelia, Menthoe, Ammonium Chloride, and alcohol sufficient to preserve and keep in solution.

Every ingredient is in concentrated form and the medicine is so strong that only ten-drop doses are to be taken in the "raw" state. But the ideal way is to make into a syrup by emptying a 2½-oz. bottle of Mentho-Laxene into a pint bottle and then fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made by dissolving a pint of sugar in a half pint of boiling water. It is said by thousands that this makes a most effective home treatment for all cold troubles. The manufacturer guarantees it to please or money back. Sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

The damage to Mobile and Pensacola, the chief sufferers, was miraculously small. Only two lives were lost, one at each place, and the damage to Mobile proper was less than $50,000. Two small vessels were sunk here and four beached.

At Pensacola the property damage was estimated at $15,000. One small vessel went down, another is missing, three fishing boats were beached and a large steamer damaged.

SAVE WOMEN FROM FIRE IN WALTHAM

The explosion of an ever-heated oil stove on the first floor of the Butterick block, corner of Main and Allen streets, Waltham, caused two alarms to be rung in early today. All the families living in the block were forced to flee to the street with what valuables they could gather.

Two aged women were assisted out of the house, and taken to a place of safety and shelter. They were Mrs. Emil H. Hamlin, who was rescued by Sergeant Cloonan and Patrolman Flood of the Waltham police, and Mrs. A. M. Dolan, who was assisted from the house by Conductor Riley of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company.

The fire was discovered by several members of the Conductors' Union who had been holding a protracted meeting. As the men came out they heard a number of small explosions, and then saw the flames shoot out from the building. Lewis Callahan, one of the conductors, immediately rang in an alarm, and by the time that the Waltham fire department had arrived the upper part of the house was in flames.

As far as can be ascertained, the four small explosions were packages of cartridges, which were awaiting shipment in the office of the National Express Company, which occupies the lower part of the Butterick building.

The heat of the burning building was intense, and many windows in the near vicinity were broken by it. Lawrence Lawlen, the night clerk on duty at the National Express Company's office, just before the alarm was sounded, had left the office to arrange about sending some goods away on the early train.

Society Girl Has Won Fame as a Miniature Painter

Miss Bertha Coolidge, Back Bay girl, who will paint miniatures of society members this season.

Members of Boston and New York society will be painted in miniature this Winter by Miss Bertha Coolidge, daughter of Mrs. Albert L. Coolidge, of No. 22 River street, who recently won a prize for her miniatures at the fashionable Newport art show. Miss Coolidge made her social debut here and has been active in social and philanthropic work. Her clever work as a painter of miniatures has attracted much attention.

Recently she opened a studio at No. 144 East Fortieth street, New York city, though the family home is in Weston.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Inches, whose wedding took place at Colebert last week, will be at their new home, No. 30 Acorn street, after November 15. The early part of their honeymoon was spent at the Inches country place, Glen Adams, in Medfield.

SOKOL TO CARRY HIS CASE HIGHER

David Sokol, the proprietor of a West End eating house, who charges he was brutally beaten by two police-men attached to the Joy street station when they went to his home to place him under arrest, was today formally sentenced in the city court to two months in the House of Correction for assaulting Patrolman Owen J. Donnelly.

An appeal was immediately entered, bonds being fixed at $500. Real estate interests were furnished by Mrs. Mary Rosen of No. 75 North Russell street, West End, and a Mrs. Goldfarb of the same street.

The action of the court today was a mere formality, as Judge Brackett had intimated what the sentence would be. He was not in court today, nor was Attorney Bonaparte, who appeared for Sokol at the hearing.

TO GO HIGHER.

After the verdict had been pronounced, Mr. Schaefer said his client would take the case to the highest courts in the land, if necessary.

In passing sentence, Judge Brackett said that if Patrolman Morgan confined to rate Sokol upon what after the prisoner was indicted to a condition of helplessness his conduct was unjustifiable.

"But does a citizen," the court argued, "have to submit to such treatment as this? I am strongly inclined to think that I should give him the limit, but I have decided, Morgan, to suspend sentence, and I would gladly extend it if necessary."

DEATHS SUDDEN.

Sudden deaths in the city proper today were those of Mrs. Mary Rosen, 75, of 75 North Russell street, West End, and a Mrs. Goldfarb of the same street.

TO QUIT WEST END.

"Father John's Medicine Gives Us Strength"

One Mother's Idea of How to Keep Her Children Well and Strong

She Praises Father John's Medicine As a Tonic and Body-Builder

"Father John's Medicine is a truth builds one up and gives you strength," writes Mrs. Dougherty, R. D. No. 15, Groton, N. Y., in a recent letter. Continuing she says, "I was all run down last winter when I began taking Father John's Medicine, but I felt fine after I had used it. I also give it to my boys, Lawrence and Earl, and it has been a benefit to them." (Signed) Mrs. Alice Dougherty, Groton, N. Y.

For a safe family medicine for colds, throat troubles and as an all-around tonic and body-builder, to give renewed strength to run-down, Father John's Medicine is the standard medicine in thousands of homes all over the country because mothers know it is safe to give their children as well as older people. It does its work without using alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form. Many families keep a bottle in the house constantly.—Advertisement.

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

IN YOUTH A MAN LAUGHS WITH THE WORLD; IN OLD AGE AT IT, BUT IT ISN'T THE SAME LAUGH

Gaffney Due in Boston

He's After the Dodgers

By JOHN W. MORAN, JR.

Twenty-four hours have elapsed and not a ball club has been sold, amazing though it may seem. Meanwhile the pleasant pastime of stove-leagueing is getting under a full head of steam and ere long the regulars will have got into line for the dull Winter of dope.

It's coming to a pretty tough pass when one cannot locate any sort of a yarn. Up at Fenway Park the same truffle is being carried on. The white chalk lines marking the gridiron are in place and all is in readiness for football.

At Braves Field B. M. Hapgood, the aggressive business manager, is hard at the task of sharpening tools. The aforesaid tools are for use in mutilating sundry miles of trees that once adorned the grounds of the Allston Golf Club. Now they'll adorn the interior of "Hap's" office and heat the place pretty soon "Hap." With some of his trusty henchmen, will busy themselves about the task of sawing and splitting them.

ALL CLERGY WELCOME.

During the baseball season the writer heard it frequently remarked that they did not think the clergy of all denominations were welcomed as cordially at the Braves' games as was the case at the Red Sox's contests, in commenting on the matter Hapgood stated that it was the desire of both President Houghton and Treasurer Wise that all clergymen avail themselves of the opportunity of attending all Braves games.

Books were no longer sent the clergymen, he said, because of the fact that in some districts a priest, minister or rabbi might be overlooked, and, as a result, some ill feeling crop out. The plan at Braves Field is for all clergy to appear at the press gate Catholic priests are readily admitted, their collar showing who they are, while ministers present a card and have access.

THERE WAS A MIX-UP.

An impression may have prevailed during last season that the clergy were not as welcome as of yore. Such was not the case, however, and the writer feels certain of his grounds when he announces that Treasurer Wise, one of those most heavily interested in the club, welcomes their presence. Before another season gets under way much will have been done to correct that false impression.

Though no definite news has come from Brooklyn regarding the deal for that club, it is pretty thoroughly understood that negotiations are reaching an advanced state. James E. Gaffney is expected to visit in Boston shortly and possibly by the time he arrives something definite will have been done and an announcement made.

MITCHELL IS CHOICE.

As regards naming the new manager of the Cubs nothing has happened as yet, but it is expected that during the latter part of the month, or early in November, the question will be settled one way or the other. It is certain Weeghman will name his new manager before the annual meeting of the National League, which is generally held the first or second week in December.

Fred Mitchell continues a favorite for the post, and in Boston there are a number of well informed baseball sorts who feel sure "Mitch" will land. It is a certainty that Stallings will place no obstacle in his path to a better position and greater honors.

If "Mitch" does get the post the face between his chin and the Braves next season should be a corker.

M'Graw Is to Go Upon Carpet.

New York, Oct. 19.—Despite the fact that most fans are of the opinion that John J. McGraw's red-hot statement in the last week of the National League season, charging his players with "indifference" in the last Giant-Brooklyn series, is dead, embalmed and buried, that is not the case.

John K. Tener, president of the National League, said at the time that McGraw's outburst would not be investigated, but it can be stated on good authority that Tener, President Hempstead, of the Giants, and Mc-Graw will meet in a conference this week, when McGraw will be asked just what he meant when he left the bench in a rage and exclaimed:

"I have worked too hard all season to stand for that kind of playing and I will not be a party to it."

Ebbets' Price Is $2,000,000

New York, Oct. 19.—C. Herculies Ebbets, the Brooklyn baseball magnate, today reiterated that "I want to get out of baseball."

Together with this remark, the colonel said he would sell the Brooklyn club "for $2,000,000 price."

This has been fixed at $2,000,000, as compared with $1,750,000 asked for the Giants a year ago.

James E. Gaffney, former owner of the Braves, is reported to be after the club, but declares he won't be lured back into baseball by paying out $2,000,000—or anything near that sum"—for the Dodgers.

SENATORS NOT TO MOVE.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington (American League) club, today strenuously denied the rumor that the club was dissatisfied with the support given the team by Washington fans and intended to transfer the franchise to Brooklyn.

CADY LEAVES FOR WEST.

Forest Cady, the Red Sox's old reliable catcher, left today for his home at Bishop's Hill, Ill. He owns one of the choicest farms in his section, and as his baseball earnings for the year figure up to around $7,500, he plans purchasing an additional strip of land.

BOWLING

THE Filene League has just begun its ninth season of pin splitting. This year it will make its rendezvous at the new Hawley street alleys. Twenty-five weeks of bowling have been arranged for, and everything points to a very successful season. The officers of the league are: C. Heller, president; G. Gobis, vice-president, and S. Cappleman, secretary and treasurer. The schedule:

Paul Poehler's terminal team continued its good work in the City League last night by taking three points from the Chauncy-Summer outfit. Paul himself did the most effective pin work of the night and by rolling 109 and 104 that total will be a warm spot in his heart for his old rendezvous.

PROBABLY the biggest surprise of the season so far in the League has been the work of the Olympia team, which bowled over the North Station crowd four straight.

* * *

NORTH STATION was the only City League outfit to fall under 1,500, which speaks well for the "Big Line." However, the difference in last trips from Webster and Casino enjoyed a similar success against New Revere.

* * *

MISS EMILY RHODES of Allston defeating Mrs. Victoria Heroux by one pin in their special ten-string match at the Boston Loop. The event was probably one of the most exciting matches ever rolled in Greater Boston. Miss Rhodes won in the very last box, rolling the head pin with but two sticks left on the alleys. The scores:

Miss Rhodes—82, 81, 79, 78, 84, 83, 89, 97, 92—805.

Mrs. Heroux—82, 83, 97, 77, 86, 79, 90, 94, 91, 93—904.

THE Automobile League has just opened a thirty weeks season at the new Lucky Street alleys. The officers of the league are: O. Brigham, president; T. Aldrich, vice-president; F. Hunt, treasurer; E. Hunt, secretary. The schedule:

GEORGETOWN TEAM ON WAY FOR GAME

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—Early this morning the Georgetown football squad made ready for its trip to Boston. In the party that boarded a New York train were twenty-five players, the athletic heads and coaches. The party is expected to reach Boston late tonight and will spend most of tomorrow at Auburndale.

They will practice at Auburndale and leave either late tomorrow night or early Saturday morning for Haverhill, where the Dartmouth game will be played.

With the exception of Lodgby, regular fullback last year, the team has all its leading players in condition for the game. Wall has been shifted to fullback, with McQuade taking his place, and Gilroy, the sensational scorer of last year, is at the other half. Maloney is directing the team and the line will probably start as follows: Cusack and Whelan, ends; McCarthy and Captain O'Connor, tackles; Showalter and Ward, guards, and Anderson, centre.

Other players who will make the trip are: Cronin, Smeach, Gorman, Saunchez, F. Green, L. Green, Burland, Zoind and Stewart, Tinemen; and J. Sullivan, H. Sullivan, J. O'Boyle, Leighty and Supple, backfield players.

GRANEY STUDIES TO ENROLL IN COLLEGE

Cleveland, Oct. 19.—Jack Graney, veteran outfielder of the Cleveland Indians, has enrolled in Central High School here to prepare for a college course in medicine.

Graney is determined to become a physician when his baseball days are over. He was unable to enter college at once because he needed additional preparation in Latin.

SULLIVAN TO TURN PILOT

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 19.—Billy Sullivan, former White Sox catcher and coach of the Detroit Tygers the past season, is slated to manage next year's Salt Lake (Pacific Coast League) club.

SANCTUM WINS BIG RACE.

Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 19.—The Caesarewitch stakes of £1,155, a handicap, was won by Sanctum, Cornsheaf was second and Barlsonil finished third. Nineteen horses ran. The distance was two and one-quarter miles.

N. H.'S FIRST DUAL RUN.

Durham, Oct. 19.—New Hampshire State is to have its first dual cross-country meet in its history of track with Colby College at Durham on November 4.

CARLSON IN GOOD HANDS

New England Lightweight Champion Hard at Work for Tomorrow Night's Battle with Hansen

By RINGSIDE.

Harry Carlson of Brockton, New England's gallant new lightweight champion is getting plenty of work in training quarters for his twelve-round battle with Larry Hansen of Brooklyn, at the Commercial A. C. tomorrow night.

Mike Glover, the noted South Boston welterweight; Willie Ryan of Brooklyn, and Joe Connolly of Charlestown, are the three huskies Carlson is working out with. Hansen is reported to be a rough and tumble mixer, which is why George Freeman, Carlson's manager, wants to harden up his charge for the fracas.

Hansen is a Dane. Al McMurray, the Brooklyn impressario, has had him in tow ever since he hit this country and the youngster owns quite a spicy record.

Al Schumacher, Jackie Dobbs, Johnny Clinton, "Sailor" Volk, Paul Edwards, Mel Coogan, Phinney Boyle, Eddie Wallace and Eddie Moy are among the boys he has met during the past eighteen months.

Hansen defeated Hansen in twelve rounds at Lawrence, while Larry held his own in a twin ten-rounder with Coogan at Portland, Me., so claims Manager McMurray.

BRISK DEMAND FOR ARMY-NAVY TICKETS

New York, Oct. 19.—A big public demand is being made for Army-Navy tickets. The gridiron classic will be staged on the Polo Grounds here November 25. The seating capacity will be about 40,000. Of this number 26,000 tickets have been divided between the two service schools. Applications for about 10,000 of the other 14,000 already have been received, with the game more than a month away.

$30,000 IN PRIZES AT BIG HORSE SHOW

New York, Oct. 19.—Approximately $30,000 in cash or trophies will be donated as prizes during the horse show, which begins here on November 11. Present plans call for the most horsey exhibition ever staged in America. It is likely that more than 1,000 equines will be on display during "Horse Show Week."

JOE WALCOTT NOW WORKS AS STOKER

New York, Oct. 19.—Joe Walcott, one of the greatest welterweights the game ever produced, is now a stoker. The "Barbados Demon," after dropping from public notice for some years, reappeared today by coming out of the stoke-hole of the steamer Aros Castle, just in from Australia. Walcott was in his prime eighteen years ago. His last ring appearance was in 1908.

COFFEY IS STOPPED BY SAMMY ROBIDEAU

Providence, Oct. 19.—Sammy Robideau of Philadelphia stopped Jim Coffey of New York in the eleventh round of their scheduled fifteen-round bout at the National A. C. A right hook did the trick. Referee Finnell not even being forced to count. Coffey was dropped to the mat in the third round and again in the tenth.

WELSH TURNS DOWN DATE WITH DUNDEE

New Orleans, Oct. 19.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, today wired Dominick Tortorich declining a bout with Johnny Dundee on New Years day. Welsh was offered a $15,000 guarantee.

O'BRIEN GETS A BOOKING.

Columbus, O., Oct. 19.—Young Fulton, the boy with the cast-iron jaw, who meets Ad Wolgast at Kenosha, Wis., next month, has been matched to meet Shamus O'Brien of New York here in a twelve-round bout November 7.

JABS AND JOLTS

TT WILL be Jack Dillon vs. Battling Levinsky at the Arena next Tuesday night.

JOHN J. REISLER—that's John the Barber—was on deck at the Arena Tuesday night with Jimmy Coffey, the New York welterweight. Coffey bested Sammy Robideau at Providence last night. The New York Italian met Joe Britton at Schenectady, N. Y., a week ago, and it is Reisler's claim the Champion was well mussed up.

JOE BERNSTEIN has added "Battling" Kong, the South Norwalk, Ct., 138-pounder, to his string, and took action with Harry Carlson and the rest of the New England flock.

CHARLEY DESHLER feels mighty good over Jimmy Gray's fast bout with Carley Hume, the Brubaker, at Gloucester, Tuesday night. Gray went on in place of Joe Morgan, getting the booking at the eleventh hour. The Chelsea lad did far and away the better work and gained the award, though the nominee to run second.

PHINNEY BOYLE of Lowell and Harry Carlson of Brockton have been matched to battle before the Holly C. C. of Lawrence, October 26. It smacks of a fast, satisfactory encounter.

DAVE DESHLER has canceled his date with "Chick" West at Chicopee. Reason: A bad hand.

JOE EAGAN, the Dorchester battler, meets Al Nelson at Manchester, N. H., next Monday night.

Robbie Hails Sox as Better Team

Baltimore, Oct. 19.—Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Dodgers, on a visit here declared today that his club was beaten "because it met a better team."

"No alibis for our beating can be offered," said Robbie. "No use trying to claim that the 'breaks' sent us down and out in five games. It was superior playing that beat us. That's all. The Sox were better than the Dodgers. My infield, as everyone knows, was the weak link in the chain. It cracked some more, and everytime it did it sent the pitchers into the air and the rest of the team followed."

BURNS FORCED TO REFUSE BIG MATCH

"Cyclone" Burns, Boston's crack heavyweight wrestler, has been forced to turn down an offer to meet Earl Caddock, "the man of a thousand holds," at Council Bluffs, Ia., the latter part of this month, because of his duties at Andover, where Burns is now assisting in getting some of the football players into shape.

Caddock is among the stars who will be seen in George Tuohey's carnivals in Mechanics Building during the coming season, and there is a possibility if Burns cannot make the trip West that Caddock will tackle Burns here in Boston.

Runs 95 Miles, Then Asks for Lemonade and Ice Cream

Chicago, Oct. 19.—A heaping dish of ice cream and some lemonade were all that Sidney Hatch of Chicago, a veteran amateur Marathon runner, wanted after he finished his record-breaking 95-mile run from Milwaukee to Chicago. Then, after a brisk rubdown, he went to bed for a twenty-four-hour sleep.

Officials of the Amateur Athlette Union declared that Hatch's performance probably was the most remarkable in history. He covered the distance—95.7 miles—in 14 hours 50 minutes and 30 seconds, beating the former record by four hours and seven minutes. At Riverview Park, Chicago, on July 26, 1909, Hatch ran 100 miles in 16:07:24.

Alex Montevede of Johnstown, N. Y., who started as Hatch's pacemaker, was forced to drop out before three-fourths of the distance had been covered.

Hatch is thirty-three years old and has competed as an amateur for seventeen years. He has raced in more than forty-five Marathon events and a hundred or more shorter distance races.

14 Heats Raced; a Single Winner

Hartford, Ct., Oct. 19.—Fourteen heats were raced away at Sage Park with only one race going to a final decision. In the feature event, the 2.15 trot, Frank Fox came through on the rail in the opening heat and hosed out Exito.

Koroni, another trotter from the Hub won the second heat in 2:13¾, the fastest mile of the race. There was a mix-up during the fourth heat, which went to Cox's old mare, Constee Mobel, in slow time.

Hitworth, a three-year-old, had no trouble defeating her field in the 2:29 trot.

The 2:20 heat is well split up, Carrie M. and Emma C. each having won two heats, and Sonora one. Legal W. annexed the unfinished 2:17 trot from Tuesday.

RACING AT ATLANTA, GA.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 19.—After a one-day layoff of Grand Circuit racing on account of rain, the horses were carded to renew their battling for the rich purses at the Fair Grounds today.

HELP! FIRE! POLICE!

Los Angeles, Oct. 19.—Ad Wolgast will be matched with Freddie Welsh for a battle at Tia Juana by Jimmy Coffroth if the champion will accept $15,000 for his end, it was announced today.

LEONARD SLIPS IN A KAYO

New York Boy Disposes of Ever Hammer in Twelfth Round of One-Sided Bout in West.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 19.—With a stiff right-cross to the jaw, Benny Leonard, the New York lightweight, sent Ever Hammer of Chicago to the floor in the twelfth round or a scheduled fifteen-round bout in Convention Hall.

When Hammer got up and staggered about the ring, his manager, Howard Carr, jumped through the ropes and ordered the referee to stop the contest, which he did, awarding the decision to Leonard.

Hammer had no chance against the speedy New Yorker. Leonard won every round but the second, third and seventh. The third was even and the other two went to Hammer because the Swede did some hitch-o'saw fighting, rocking the Hebrew's head with a left hook.

When he had not been stopped, Hammer's left eye was almost swollen shut. He took severe licking and took it without flinching.

Blagden at Cambridge Aids in Drilling Line

This afternoon's work in the Stadium promises to be very light, as the varsity has been driven extremely hard the past two days and is due for an easy inning. Crawford Blagden, '02, as round as ever, is back in Cambridge for a few days, and as there are few better men in football to drill a rushline to play as a unit, the New Yorker's presence is most welcome.

Blagden was Harvard's former representative on the football rules committee. Each Fall he journeys to New York and comes to Harvard to help coach the units in the football machine and place them in their proper positions.

Coach Haughton has been putting the varsity through some stiff scrimmage work of late, and as a matter of fact the first and second elevens are about even in strength, except for minor injuries and the fact that Captain Casey has had more chances at the scrimmage than any other player.

CASEY NEW BEST BET.

With "Big Eddie" Mahan gone, Harvard appears to have a new man of royal football blood to entrust to in Eddie Casey, the nimble-legged sophomore fullback. Was the mighty Casey "stricken out"—in football—he invariably spins outlive of yards before mortality tells him.

It seems to be a case of "Casey at the bat" in the Harvard backfield. Casey is the main cog around which the Crimson attack revolves, and he is more talked about than any other player on the field.

Casey, during his short stay in the day's scrimmage, tore off five-yard runs, one of which netted 45 yards, and plowed through the line for trip over two touchdowns. He also kicked goal for the varsity's first tally. Casey has a chance this week through "Hank" Lower's absence, and there is little doubt but that the sophomore will be given the signal calls.

Ellis Ware, after Casey's score, was given the ball at mid-field and by short, sharp rushes, with one or two end runs sandwiched in between, it to the scrub 20-yard line, where Bob Gibbs, chanticleers held for downs. The scrubs, however, could make no headway and punted to mid-field.

LONG DASH FOR WILCOX.

Here Willie Wilcox took Casey's place and on the first play scampered 30 yards. One play failed, and then Burnham ploughed through the line for a varsity second touchdown.

Some old-time line backing yielded the final score, Billy Vuerpy plotting the varsity from the 40-yard line to within a foot of the opposing goal line. Burnham was again called upon as "threat" halfback and went over.

The second team had little chance on the offensive but despite the score it passed a bang-up game on the defensive. Crowell, a freshman guard last Fall, and Ryan, who transferred to Harvard from Notre Dame, were the scrubs' stars.

Army Coaches Try New Men

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The mid-week practice saw seven new faces on the varsity. Although all the backfield, excepting Cardinal and Fork, were in uniform the coaches sent Captain McLwain, Oliphant, Meacham, Place and Vidal to the sidelines during the heavy work.

Hodgson at right end for Parke was in for Meacham at right end, and Charman played centre for McEwan. Murrill drove the team at quarter, with Harmon, Greene and Cole making up the backfield. One touchdown was scored by the varsity and Oliphant was called on to try a placement goal from the 50-yard line, but missed by inches.

Green Guard Is Hurt on Field

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 19.—Merrill, who has played as a regular at guard on the Dartmouth varsity for two years, was taken out of the scrimmage with an injured leg. Dick Holbrook, who was playing at tackle, Hamel's place at fullback in Saturday's game with Georgetown in Haverhill, Mass., was hurt above the knee and also went to the sidelines.

Lehman and other second string backs are trying hard to fill the gap, but it is doubtful if he will be available for Saturday's battle.

Thielscher, the veteran back, though not seriously hurt, was kept out of the workout with a slight muscle bruise. He is, however, expected to fill his regular position against Georgetown.

JEFFREY DIRECTS TUFTS

Does Good Job at Quarter Subbing for Drummey — Pryor Shows Rare Form at Centre.

Tufts' varsity was given a long workout against the much better second team behind locked gates. The drill was mainly defensive work for the first string men, as I at no time were they risk able to advance to first down.

Pryor's work at centre was particularly good. He tore through the line on almost every play, upsetting the substitute backs before they got started.

The second team was given the ball on its own 47 yard line and tore it across, but on four tries they were unable to gain a first down.

With the ball on an intercepted forward pass

Jeffrey continued to play in the fourth quarter as Drummey was held to rest for active work. He was the choice to fill Simpson's place at end and acquitted himself very well. Dinger Doyle, in a short workout in punting and shooting passes, as well that a number of his punts rolled out over the scrub goal line before he got his second.

A new varsity play called "Wolf shift" was used. It is similar to the Notre Dame shift, in that the ends and backfield players move in the direction of the play before the ball is put in play. Brickley's Boston College shift.

Coach Wheeler is expected to have his men to pile up a big score against Maroon and Gold eleven, as the game will may be expected to be a real battle between the two Cadet clubs.

AMHERST FRONT IS CHANGED AROUND

Amherst Oct 19—Football Fairies in the varsity were put to hard work this afternoon in preparation for the game with the Yale freshmen Saturday. Stillman kicked a field goal from the 30-yard line, while Corrigan ran through a broken field for an advance of 60 yards. These were the feature plays for the scrubs, who outplayed the first team.

IT MAY BE PIES CASEY

Eddie Casey star in Dutch and Rufe Bond another crack football player, have been elected to the class presidency of the Harvard sophomore class. Frank L. Cole and Francis W. Hatch are additional members for vice presidents. Secretary Weeks of the baseball team has been nominated for secretary treasurer of the junior class.

BACK M'LEAN OUT OF IT.

Williamstown Oct 19 Coach Brooks gave the Williams varsity another long defensive drill. As Berge has been mainly behind the line, as McLean's injury will not permit him to play Saturday Lewis went to quarter from half. Rochester taking his old berth.

Pittsburgh Oct 19—Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, has returned to the University of Pittsburgh, according to all. He joins Hall with the 301 pound American Association c h the past season.

METIVIER CAN GET BUSY

STOCK MARKET PRICES MOVE UPWARD

Influenced by continued reports of large earnings, with talk of extra dividends and melon-cutting, prices on the New York Stock Exchange resumed their upward movement today.

A new high record of 99¾ was attained by Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies common.

With few exceptions, stocks had substantial gains at noon. The exceptions were those specialties which heretofore were conspicuous for strength, the alcohol stocks particularly. Industrial Alcohol, which advanced more than thirteen points yesterday, lost 2⅜, and Distillers common, 1½.

BOOT AND SHOE MEN AT DINNER

With a distinctly Pan-American flavor about it, the Boston Boot and Shoe Club's 15th dinner was held in the state dining room at the Somerset, and Augusto Maguere, head of the largest shoe manufacturing concern in Chile, was one of the guests of honor.

Maguere entertained the Chamber of Commerce tourists in his home at Santiago on their South American tour.

On the dinner menu was printed the following statement from Domingo Necett, president of the Union Industrial Argentina of Buenos Aires:

"The Board of Directors over which I have the honor to preside has received to inform you that for some time past it has been receiving frequent complaints from members of the association of failure on the part of United States firms to comply with contracts entered into with them. These members allege that both in respect to the time of shipment as well as the quality and quantity of the goods, the terms of the contracts are not being complied with, and they add that inasmuch as payment, in a great many instances, is made in advance, their claims are seldom attended to as they should be."

President Herbert L. Tinkham in his address spoke of the need and told of the effort to create closer business relations with South America.

Albert L. Souler showed 200 photographs taken on the Chamber's South American trip.

Guests of the evening included A. J. Symmons of Buenos Aires, Argentina; C. W. Robie, manager of the American Express Company; James W. Meloon, managing director United Shoe Repairing Machine Company; Professor Leon Campbell of the Harvard University Observatory; Carl A. Lehman of the First National Bank, Thomas S. Hunter of the National Shawmut Bank, Frank H. Bowers of Kidder, Peabody & Co., A. W. Little of the Stetson Shoe Company, New York; Arthur B. Putnam, Howard N. Cole, manager of the foreign department of Rice & Hutchins; E. G. Sullivan, secretary of the Salem Board of Trade; Harry H. Odell, Frederico Krebs and W. G. Dennison—all of whom are directly or indirectly connected with business of some kind in South America, even to the Harvard professor, who was formerly connected with Harvard's observatory at Arequipa, Peru.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 19.—Charles Evans Hughes spent Friday in Michigan today, continuing energetically his campaign for the presidency. A vote for Hughes and the Republican platform, he told a large audience here, is a vote for "Americanism."

Governor Hughes laid particular attention to the Mexican situation today.

"If you want to see how things ought not to be done," he declared, "look at Mexico. Be prepared. That sounds out the keynote of the administration's policies. We cannot go through the world bloodying our fists because we don't like the way we are treated. Let us be prepared for any emergency."

Despite the rain and cold weather, Hughes was greeted by large and enthusiastic audiences at every stop. In a parade in his honor despite a heavy rain.

Somerville Lady Who Had Stomach Trouble 18 Years Is Helped by Plant Juice.

energy for the human body. Without good digestion and assimilation there cannot be good health, and when the new herbal stomach remedy, assists nature, strengthens the digestive organs, the gastric juices flow, thereby digesting the food, and as the blood enriches, eliminates uric acid from the blood, which is the cause of indigestion, and the sufferer is restored to health, with the full heritage of energy.

Local testimonials from gratified users of Plant Juice continue to pour in, showing that this remedy is living up to its reputation. One of the most recent is that of Mrs. James A. Fisher, who resides at No. 14 New Hampshire ave., Somerville, where she is well-known socially, having lived there for the past 18 years.

"For 18 years I have suffered with stomach trouble which at times took the form of indigestion and dyspepsia. My food fermented in my stomach and caused me much distress. I had a bad taste after eating any solid food; in fact, I could only subsist on liquid food, and even then I was told that I had an acid stomach. My head ached nearly all the time, I had no appetite, had pains all over my body, and was terribly nervous. I became so weak I would faint away, and I felt all tired out. I had taken a new remedy on of me and I feel greatly benefited, so much so that I have recommended me to try Plant Juice and now, after taking three bottles, I find myself a new woman. I have no more aches or pains, sleep well, and with confidence I say Plant Juice is a grand medicine."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton Co.'s store, where he is demonstrating the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

Some Facts About the Initiative and Referendum

Which You Will Vote Upon at Next Election

THE Initiative and Referendum was first employed by the people of Switzerland. Switzerland is a republic like ours. It is a federation of autonomous States like ours, with State Legislatures and a national Congress like ours.

Before they discovered the Initiative and Referendum, the people of Switzerland had the most corrupt government in Europe. The monopolies controlled the politics of the country. The railroads absolutely dominated its public affairs, both in the nation and in the States. The people found no relief by changing the political parties or individual public officials, for one party and one man was as bad as another, and each in turn fell into the hands of the railroads and other special interests.

In desperation the Swiss people devised the Initiative and Referendum. By this reform they were able to control the government and to pass a law that their misrepresenting Legislature refused to pass and to veto laws which their bad Legislatures had enacted.

THE FIRST THING THAT THE SWISS PEOPLE DID WAS TO TAKE THE RAILROADS AND OPERATE THEM AS PUBLIC ENTERPRISES, AND THEY HAVE BEEN OPERATING THEM EVER SINCE. TODAY SWITZERLAND IS KNOWN TO BE THE PUREST DEMOCRACY IN THE WORLD AND TO HAVE THE PUREST GOVERNMENT IN EUROPE.

Probably the most advanced country on earth is New Zealand. There the condition of the average man, under all the circumstances, is probably the best. There more progress has been made toward solving the problems of society than anywhere in the world. The conditions of life are infinitely better in New Zealand than in this country. There they have the Initiative and Referendum.

We are just beginning to adopt the Initiative and Referendum in the more progressive States of our Union. It has never been rejected by any people in any State or country where it has been submitted. President Wilson believes in it and advocates it. Ex-President Roosevelt believes in it and advocates it. During the last six years, including this last year, the candidates for Governor pledged to the Initiative and Referendum in Massachusetts received a majority of the votes cast at the election. During the year when Charles Sumner Bird, the Progressive candidate for Governor, and ex-Governor Foss were running, they, advocating the Initiative and Referendum, received over 70 per cent. of the vote cast. When Joseph Walker was the Republican candidate for Governor the candidates for Governor of all the parties were men who advocate the Initiative and Referendum. Every one of these gentlemen have contributed out of their means generously to promote the adoption of the Initiative and Referendum by the people of Massachusetts.

The Initiative and Referendum was submitted to the constituents of five Representatives who voted against the Initiative and Referendum in the Legislature. Their constituents voted IN FAVOR of the Initiative and Referendum in every district—in three districts by more than two to one, in one district by more than three to one, and in another district by nearly five to one. The smallest vote for the Initiative and Referendum was two to one.

Yet the gentlemen in whose districts the overwhelming sentiment was thus recorded paid no attention to public opinion whatever or to the instructions of their constituents and continued to vote against the Initiative and Referendum. In one district more people voted for the Initiative and Referendum than for the Representative who was elected, and yet that Representative had the effrontery to defy the opinion of his district. So much for representative government.

Your Telephone Bills

BELOW is printed a letter from a telephone subscriber warning the public against being charged for calls when they do not get their party.

It is unbelievable that a great public service company would practice deliberately any such petty fraud, yet the loss can, through negligence, be very great to the public, and it would be well to heed the advice of the writer to watch the bills which the company renders.

In the meantime an intelligent telephone management will realize the very costly feature of this kind of carelessness, which is a part of the generally bad service that we have hereabouts. You cannot make a man believe, when he is being constantly overcharged, that it is not done with fraudulent intent, and when you add to his irritation at bad service his belief in dishonesty on the part of the company, the company is creating in him very explosive material.

Here is the letter:

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—Apropos the criticism of the service now given by the telephone company, I respectfully suggest that you issue a warning to your readers, many of whom are telephone subscribers, to watch the registers, where such are installed, and otherwise insist that the operator announce "no charge".

In the past four months hardly a day has passed without my having to call the attention of the chief operator or the exchange manager to the fact that I have been charged for calls that I did not get. Frequently I have called a number, and not being able to get a report from the operator, have hung up the receiver, only to find that I have been charged for the call. When I protest, the sweet-voiced chief operator tries to pacify me by explaining that the two switches are side by side, and that the operator is quite likely to pull the wrong one by mistake, but not once in four months has she failed to pull the "charge" lever, instead of the "restoring lever"; for that information you still have to pay the toll for notwithstanding the fact that you are sweetly informed that a refund will be made, in four months time my bills have always compared with register and no refunds have been made. Taking this matter up with the manager, I am informed that the refunds are always made, yet this same manager was unable to explain to me just why the bill should compare exactly with the register, when it is admitted that the register is wrong.

If this happens on lines where registers are installed, just imagine how much more likely is it to happen where there are no registers and the subscriber is unable to determine whether charge has been made or not.

I respectfully request that you call this matter to the attention of those of your readers who may want a fair return for their money.

Owing to the fact that I fear the wrath of the telephone company, I have not affixed my name. Should you publish this information, and it becomes necessary to prove the statements contained herein, I will gladly come to the front and conclusively prove every statement.

Very truly yours,
AN UNFORTUNATE SUBSCRIBER.

It Is Important to "Kick" About Bad Food

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects.

IT was long the fashion to jeer at the man who was "finicky" about his food, squeamish as to its cooking and service, objecting to the hand of the cook in his bread, the thumb of the waiter in his soup, exacting as to the spotlessness of his napkin and tablecloth, the speklessness of his plates and cups and spoons. But that very fussiness, within reasonable bounds, of course, and intelligently directed, is an "armor against Fate," a barrier of steel against a score of serious food-diseases and infections, an assurance of probably at least five or even ten more years of lifetime.

Already there has been a falling off of at least thirty-five if not 50 per cent. in the frequency of dyspepsia, sour stomach and other forms of chronic indigestion, as well as in diarrhoea and dysenteries, due in part to our enormously improved food supply, with abundance of sugar, fresh meat, green vegetables and fresh fruit the whole year round. The "discovery" of cheap sugar, with the canning and preserving industries which it made possible, was one of the most important events in human history, far more epoch-making and beneficent than any new form of government or philosophy or religion.

This lessening of dyspepsia is due in part to increased surgical skill, detecting and removing ulcers, smouldering, inflamed appendixes, gall-stones and other Ethiopians in the abdominal woodpile, which underlie much chronic "stomach trouble." But more than all to hygienic fussiness, plain every-day "kicking," raising the roof and refusing to eat whenever the butter is rancid or soft, the bread sour, the meat "samy," the biscuits soggy, the soup greasy, the vegetables wilted, the milk clabbery, the fish soft and "fishy," the ice-fruit overripe and fragrant, the pie crust tough and rubbery, the cooking sawdusty.

All good food, all real food, should smell good and taste good, and if it doesn't it's somebody's fault and generally somebody's dirtiness. We talk about a thing being "dirt cheap," but dirt is the most expensive thing in the world—if you eat it. We may have to eat our peck of dirt before we die—of it—but the slower we eat that dirt the longer it will take to kill us. Better make the peck last as long as possible. Delays are not half as dangerous as dirt is. Nearly all dirt contains bugs, and bugs "raise hades" with our "lining." No dirty water or milk or fly-blown food, no typhoid, no diarrhoea, no dysentery, no colic or cholera, either Asiatic or home-grown, and very, very little dyspepsia, sour stomach, biliousness, flatulence or chronic liver troubles, including gall-stones and jaundice, which are due to the infection of the gall-bladder by dirty-food bugs, usually typhoid bacilli. About a third of all dropsies, and the worst to handle, are caused by food infections of the liver, the other thirds being from heart and kidney mischiefs, respectively.

Lift up your voice and "howl" whenever you see a speck or small suspicion of dirt anywhere in or near your food, and you'll save or indefinitely postpone many more and louder lamentations by your family and friends at your premature funeral.

Our personal squeamishnesses have been collectively expressed in our admirable and effective pure food laws, which have made it not only unpopular but dangerous to sell dirt or trash under the name of food, mouldy wheat in flour, creosote in hams, rotten tomatoes and spoiled fruit in canned goods, floor sweepings of butcher shops in sausages, diseased old cows in corned beef, gelatin made from dead horses in jellies and jams, and other innocent little "customs of the trade."

Never was our food supply so abundant, so pure, so wholesome as it is today, and instead of "blacklists" of makers of impure or unwholesome food products we have "whitelists" and rolls of honor, with the manufacturers falling over one another and breaking their necks to get their goods into them. The sanitary conscience of the American people has waked up and is going to stay awake, and all who sin against it had better look out for squalls.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

The Road to Easy Street

The going's smooth on Easy Street
No cops to curb you speed.
And when another car you meet
There's all the room you need.
At curves you needn't scan the lot
To pick a place to fall,
You take the turns with all you've got
And never skid at all.
But ere you come to Easy Street
You've got to bump the bumps,
Meander through the dust and heat
With spring-destroying jumps,
And shifting your gears along the way
For many a jolting mile,
And most who make the journey say
It's not worth while.

Compensation

This is a just world, after all. The poor have to pay more for bread and milk, but on the optimistic other hand, the rich do not have to pay so much for gasoline.

For the First Time

When you look at your milk bill next month you will begin to understand why a Troyon picture of a cow sells for seventy or eighty thousand dollars.

So's to Be on the Safe Side

Dock Cook says he's going to take along a fleet of witnesses the next time he discovers the North Pole. And if he goes to Denmark to report his discovery he'd better take along a fleet of battleships.

A Bit Incautious

When Leaves Are Sere

By Jane McLean

A WILD grape arbor all abloom,
Dry leaves that crackle in the gloom,
Some trees sharp rimmed against the sky,
A flock of swallows drifting by,
A film upon the shivering brook,
A fireside and an open book,
The scent of wood smoke sharp and keen—
And Fall has slipped in all unseen.

Contrasts of Winter and Summer in the Two Hemispheres—How the Vast Southern Oceans Temper the Cold in One Season and the Sunshine in the Other

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Are there greater extremes of temperature in the Southern than in the Northern hemisphere? My question is based upon the fact that the sun is some three million miles farther from the tropic of Cancer in June than in December; therefore, appreciably nearer Capricorn in December, and vertical.

"J. W. H."

YOUR question would be clearer if you had simply stated, for its basis, the fact that the earth is about 3,000,000 miles farther from the sun near the end of June than near the end of December.

The so-called "Tropics" of Cancer and Capricorn are imaginary circles drawn around the earth, parallel to the equator, and distant from it about twenty-three and one-half degrees, one being situated in the northern and the other in the southern hemisphere, and they derive their respective names from the zodiacal constellation in which the sun is apparently situated when it is vertical over one or the other of the tropics.

The word tropic comes from the Greek word for "turning," and its significance is that the two tropical circles indicate the limits of the sun's greatest annual advance, either north or south of the equator, having attained which, it turns and swings in the other direction. These two points of turning are called the solstices.

The difference in the distance of the earth from the sun at opposite times in the year has no connection with the tropical circles, except that the one called Capricorn is that over which the sun is vertical in December, and the one called Cancer is that over which the sun is vertical in June, and it so happens that the nearest approach of the earth to the sun occurs not far from the time when the latter is upon the Tropic of Capricorn, which lies in the southern hemisphere. But the tropics would exist just the same if there were no change in the distance.

The correct statement is that the earth, as a whole, and not the tropic of Capricorn, is 3,000,000 miles nearer the sun when the latter is vertical over the Capricorn circle, and, since that corresponds with the Summer season in the southern hemisphere, it follows that Summer should be hotter in that hemisphere than in the northern. If the difference of distance alone governed the case, the Summer temperature south of the equator should be about seven or eight per cent. higher than north of the equator.

But, as a matter of fact, the southern Summer, as a whole, is no hotter than the northern, from which it is evident that some other cause intervenes. This other cause, or the principal other cause, is probably the tempering effect of the vast oceanic expanses which exist in the southern hemisphere, greatly exceeding in area those of the north.

At the same time it must be remembered that the southern Winter occurs when the earth is farthest from the sun, 3,000,000 miles farther than in Summer, when the sun is vertical over the tropic of Cancer, in the north. Consequently Winter in the southern hemisphere should be colder than the northern Winter. Here again it appears that the equalizing effect upon the temperature of the immense southern oceans intervenes in favor of the southern continents and saves them from the extremes to which they would otherwise be subjected.

Around the South Pole, however, the effects of the longer and colder Winter are manifest. The accumulation of ice and snow there is much greater than in the north. The Antarctic Continent is completely buried under an icy shield which may, in places, be thousands of feet thick, while the extension of the roof of ice covering the seas about the borders of that continent exceeds anything known in the north. The great elevation of the Antarctic Continent also has an important effect in producing a lower temperature.

Upon the whole, it may be said that, as things stand at the present time, nature has provided compensatory influences which tend to moderate extremes in both hemispheres. In the northern the greater distance of the sun in Summer and its greater proximity in Winter furnish the compensation, while in the southern the moderating influence of the more extensive oceans is the compensating agent.

About 11,000 years hence, however, when the alteration in the pointing of the earth's axis produced by the precession of the equinoxes shall have reversed the present situation, it will be the northern hemisphere that will have its Summer when the earth is nearest the sun and its Winter when the earth is farthest from the sun, and, since this hemisphere possesses more land than sea, there will be no compensation, and the extremes of heat and cold will be uniemperad, with the advantage remaining with the cold, which may produce, in the north temperate zone, a new glacial age. But that concerns our remote descendants and we can do nothing for them.
